STRONG FORCE TO BE AT MANILA.

Battleships to Soon Start For Honolulu, but Evidently Later to Join Dewey. More Troops Ordered to Manila - Certain Nation Better Keep Hands Off.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The officials at the state and war departments welcomed the notice sent yesterday to the American people through The Associated Press of the falsity of the stories describing the friction between the Filipanos and the American forces in Luzon. While the officials did not care to discuss the matter for publication it was evident the main source of their satisfaction was the internal evidence contained in the document that Aguinaldo had profited by the warnings of the American commanders and had gracefully receded from the arrogant attitude assumed by him just be-fore General Merritt left Manila for

While there is little in the official reports that tends to contradict what the insurgent chief says, still it must be re-called that both General Otis and Admiral Dewey, in cable messages to Washington, have pointed out threatening complications arising from the attitude of the insurgents. The last advices received at the war department from Manila came from General Otis Friday last, and, while the officer referred to the agitation exhibited by the insurgents, he took care to state that he had troops enough in his opinion to meet any emergency.

With this statement from the commanding general on the scene of activity fresh in mind, the war department explanation for the dispatch of fresh reinforcements for the American army at Manila, namely that it is but part of a movement originally planned, appears to warrant a further inquiry. The navy department is rushing preparations for the start of the big battleships Oregon and Iowa to Honolulu. The purpose is to have them start on their long voyage by the end of the present month and according to the department calculations they should arrive at their destina-tion by the end of January. There is little effort now made to conceal the fact that the department will have the ships met at Honolulu by a dispatch boat with orders to turn their prows westward to Manila.

Battleships of this character are not needed to keep the Filipano insurgents in order, and their assembling in Ma-nila in conjunction with the dispatch of heavy reinforcements of troops for the American land forces cannot but be regarded as significant. In well informed circles here it is said that the real purpose of the president in making these preparations is to insure the peace commissioners against any interference in their work of disposing of the future of the Philippine islands according to their best judgment.

A long line of curious incidents to which one of the great European powers has been a party, has beyond question done much to cause a feeling of uneasiness on the part of the administration, as tending to show a purpose to interfere in our free action in the Philippines, and this has been only slightly diminished by apparently frank disclaimers of an ulterior purpose, because the incidents continue quietly and in a manner calculated to avoid attracting attention. Such for instance is the gathering of naval vessels to the south of the Philippine group, the only explanation of which, coming from native sources, it is true, but still bearing marks of genuineness, is a purpose of acquiring either by seizure or by some secret pact with the Spanish government the important island of Pala-

This particular island forms one side of the gateway through which must pass all of the extensive commerce that flows between Australia, Micronesia and Southern China. The passage is narrow, and if the islands of the Philippine group are to be retained, outside of Luzon this island of Palawan must be kept, as forming one side of the gateway. It is gathered that it is the purpose of the president, therefore, to prevent the alienation by Spain of any of the Philippine group, and that these preparations, naval as well as military, are but steps toward the execution of his purpose.

With the addition to his fleet of the two battleships Admiral Dewey will have a force only second to that of Great Britain in eastern waters, while on shore General Otis will have a more numerous army than any European power save Russia.

The advance guard of the naval expedition for Honolulu and probably for Manila started Sunday, when the Abarenda sailed from Fortress Monroe via Brazil. The Abarenda is a collier, one of which are to keep the big battleships Oregon and Iowa supplied with coal on their long voyage around South America. The plan is to have two of the colliers precede the battleships, and two to go along with them. In addition to these escorting craft, Acting Secretary Allen yesterday ora refrigerator and supply ship and the Sternberg or Leiter hospitals.

RUSSIA FRIENDLY.

Cassini Said the Interests of His Country Need Not Conflict With Ours In China.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 20.-A special to The Times from Narragansett MORE OF THE SICK MOVED. Pier, published yesterday, gave an interview with Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, in which he said:

"There has been absolutely no change in Russian sentiment or policy toward the United States, nor does there exist a reason for such a change within my knowledge. Russian policy does not conflict with interests of the United States in any part of the world, no more in China than in England. Russia seeks only peaceful and friendly re-lations with all other nations."

The correspondent reminded the ampassador that the American people were now asked by English writers to believe hat some of the continental powers had sought to arrange for international ntervention on behalf of Spain in this recent war, and that this plan of action nad been defeated by the refusal of Great Britain to be a party to it, or even to consent to see other powers engage in it, thereby placing this country under a new and special obligation to the British people.

"I never heard that there was such a proposition by any of the powers." said Count Cassini, "on the contrary, all the powers carefully maintained their neutrality throughout the war between the United States and Spain."

Upon the subject of the Philippines the ambassador had no opinion to express, his attitude being that merely of an observer of what is happening in that part of the world. The Russian government does not concern itself with those parts of China, or with outlying islands remote from its borders.

GOING TO CUBA.

About 10,000 Men to Be Sent to the Island Likely Within Two Weeks

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—It is the present intention of the administration to send to Cuba as a garrison force for the island about 40,000 troops, in addition to the force now in Santiago under command of General Lawton. At least half of them will be volunteers.

Within two weeks orders will be issued for the movement to Cuba of the first 10,000 of the permanent garrison, and it is the expectation now that they will sail from the United States about Oct. 10.

It is not the intention of the administration to await the evacuation of the island by the Spanish forces before sending United States troops to Cuba.

During the late fall and winter months the climate in Cuba is not only enjoyable, but nealthful, and with such care as will be taken for the health and comfort of the American forces stationed in Cuba officials of the war department have no fear that serious illness among the men will follow the oc-cupation of the island.

A TIP TO VOLUNTEERS.

Those That Want Discharges Must Apply In Military Way-Some Who Needn't Apply.

Washington, Sept. 20.—The war department yesterday issued a circular calling attention to the fact that some volunteers were imploring congressmen and senators to secure their discharge | New Orleans, to Newman, Ga., on acand these were making requests to the count of the prevalence of yellow fever war department. Attention is called to a paragraph in the army regulations which requires that all communications from subordinates to superiors must pass through military channels.

The statement says that applicants should give the reasons for discharge in a letter addressed to the adjutant general of the army, hand it to the captain of his company, who is required to forward it to the colonel of the regiment, and the latter to pass it through brigade, division and corps headquarters with their recommendation. Unless this is done the department will send the paper back to the company commander for his recommendation, and that takes time.

The statement further says in part: "The department has also promulgated another ruling in this connection, which is to the effect that public policy will not permit at this iime the consideration of applications for discharges of men serving in the Philippine islands, Honolulu, Cuba or Porto Rico."

Troops to Be Sent There-Said to Be Intended For Garrison Duty.

It was stated at the war department that no exigency had arisen which made it necessary to send troops now at San Francisco to Manila, but the order issued yesterday was in accordance with the general plan of the department regarding a garrison for the Philippines.

The war department yesterday after-noon amended the orders relative to the dispatch of reinforcements to the Philippines so as to increase the number by 1,101 privates and 36 officers. These are made up of four companies of the Thirty-third infantry and recruits for the Tenth Pennsylvania, First Nebraska and First Colorado. STRONG FORCE TO BE AT MANILA.

Battleships to Soon Start For Honolulu, but Evidently Later to Join Dewey. More Troops Ordered to Manila - Certain Nation Better Keep Hands Off.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The officials at the state and war departments welcomed the notice sent yesterday to the American people through The Associated Press of the falsity of the stories describing the friction between the Filipanos and the American forces in Luzon. While the officials did not care to discuss the matter for publication it was evident the main source of their satisfaction was the internal evidence contained in the document that Aguinaldo had profited by the warnings of the American commanders and had gracefully receded from the arrogant attitude assumed by him just be-fore General Merritt left Manila for

While there is little in the official reports that tends to contradict what the insurgent chief says, still it must be recalled that both General Otis and Admiral Dewey, in cable messages to Washington, have pointed out threatening complications arising from the attitude of the insurgents. The last advices received at the war department from Manila came from General Otis Friday last, and, while the officer referred to the agitation exhibited by the insurgents, he took care to state that he had troops enough in his opinion to meet any emergency.

With this statement from the commanding general on the scene of activity fresh in mind, the war department explanation for the dispatch of fresh reinforcements for the American army at Manila, namely that it is but part of a movement originally planned, appears to warrant a further inquiry. The navy department is rushing preparations for the start of the big battleships Oregon and Iowa to Honolulu. The purpose is to have them start on their long voyage by the end of the present month and according to the department calculations they should arrive at their destination by the end of January. There is little effort now made to conceal the fact that the department will have the ships met at Honolulu by a dispatch boat with orders to turn their prows westward to Manila.

Battleships of this character are not needed to keep the Filipano insurgents in order, and their assembling in Manila in conjunction with the dispatch of heavy reinforcements of troops for the American land forces cannot but be regarded as significant. In well informed circles here it is said that the real purpose of the president in making these preparations is to insure the peace commissioners against any interference in their work of disposing of the future of the Philippine islands according to their best judgment.

A long line of curious incidents to which one of the great European powers has been a party, has beyond question done much to cause a feeling of uneasiness on the part of the administration, as tending to show a purpose to interfere in our free action in the Philippines, and this has been only slightly diminished by apparently frank disclaimers of an ulterior purpose, because the incidents continue quietly and in a manner calculated to avoid attracting attention. Such for instance is the gathering of naval vessels to the south of the Philippine group, the only explanation of which, coming from native sources, it is true, but still bearing marks of genuineness, is a purpose of acquiring either by seizure or by some secret pact with the Spanish government the important island of Pala-

The passage is narrow, and if the islands of the Philip-Pine group are to be retained, outside of Luzon this island of Palawan must be kept, as forming one side of the gateway. It is gathered that it is the purpose of the president, therefore, to prevent the alienation by Spain of any of the Philippine group, and that these preparations, naval as well as military, are but steps toward the execution of his purpose.

With the addition to his fleet of the two battleships Admiral Dewey will have a force only second to that of Great Britain in eastern waters, while on shore General Otis will have a more numerous army than any European

RUSSIA FRIENDLY.

Cassini Said the Interests of His Country Need Not Conflict With Ours In China.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 20 .- A special to The Times from Narragansett Pier, published yesterday, gave an interview with Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, in which he said:

"There has been absolutely no change in Russian sentiment or policy toward the United States, nor does there exist a reason for such a change within my knowledge. Russian policy does not conflict with interests of the United States in any part of the world, no more in China than in England. Russia seeks only peaceful and friendly re-lations with all other nations."

The correspondent reminded the ampassador that the American people were now asked by English writers to believe that some of the continental powers had sought to arrange for international ntervention on behalf of Spain in this recent war, and that this plan of action nad been defeated by the refusal of Great Britain to be a party to it, or even to consent to see other powers engage in it, thereby placing this country under a new and special obligation to the British people.

"I never heard that there was such a proposition by any of the powers." said Count Cassini, "on the contrary, all the powers carefully maintained their neutrality throughout the war between the United States and Spain."

Upon the subject of the Philippines the ambassador had no opinion to express, his attitude being that merely of an observer of what is happening in that part of the world. The Russian government does not concern itself with those parts of China, or with outlying islands remote from its borders.

PHILIPPINE PROBLEM.

Serious Statement Made by a Leading Singapore Paper.

ITS VIEW OF OUR DUTY IN THE EAST

An Opinion of What Is Likely to Ensue by the Institution of a Joint Spanish-American Commission-Result of the Return of the Philippines to Spain-An American Protectorate Said to Be the Only Solu-

Of the latest war news the item that most closely concerns the far east is the announcement that the future of the Philippines, concerning which the United States government is clearly unable to make up its mind definitely, is to be considered by a joint commission of American and Spanish delegates. That statement, if authentic, as there is every reason to suppose it to be, may well give cause for anxiety to all who are interested in the maintenance of the balance of power in the far east, who desire to see peace prevail and commerce prosper and who are convinced that by retaining a large degree of control over the Philippines the United States would thereby be doing no more than assuming that position as a great power on the Pacific that it is right and necessary for her to acquire.

It may well be asked why, in the announcement of the proposed institution of a Hispano-American joint commission for the determination of the future of the Philippines, there should be apprehended any possibility of peril. Our reply is that the danger is to be found in the presumption, in the fact of the creation of such a commission, that the result to be arrived at must be of the nature of a compromise between the interests of the two parties to the discussion. Compromise, to our thinking and according to our estimate of the situation, would in such a matter be fatal to the cause of lasting peace. To compare, in passing, the relative positions of the populations of Cuba and of the Philippines under Spanish rule it is true to say that while the easier opportunity for American intervention was apparent in the Cuban case, partly owing to proximity and the resultant commingling of commercial interests, yet the dire necessity for intervention from some humane quarter or other was far more clamant in the case of the Philippines. It is proper to assume that at a public picnic, to which people from in both cases, Cuba and the Philippines, the main features of Spanish administration-call it maladministration if you will-were practically identical, and that therefore all the consequent grievances and disabilities that ensued to the disadvan populations were similar in nature and perhaps in intensity.

Had that been all the mild and tractable Filipino population might never have showed intolerance of Spanish rule in the way in which their brothers in misfortune in Cuba have done. But within the Philippines there has existed for centuries a dominant power that has absolutely overridden the entire civil and military executive and by its influence over these has in effect held in the hollow of its hand the lives and fortunes of each individual Filipino beyoud all hope of appeal for protection to the ordinary tribunals of the law. We refer, of course, to the great religious fraternities who sway to their arbistate in the Philippines. Their members, in many instances, are grasping, unscrupulous and vicious. It has been related by those who know that the honor of wife or the virtue of daughter of the unlucky Filipino is held at the disposal of the fraile on demand. Resistance to such a demand means certain denouncement of the victim to the civil power as a "Freemason" or a "sympathizer with insurrectos." The civil official knows much better than to question any charge of this kind emanating from such a source, and the unlucky man vanishes, perhaps forever, from his family. What goes on in Philippine prisons without trial in the way of torture, misery, thirst, starvation, mutilation and murder has been of late a common enough theme. These religious orders have, it is well known, been expelled from Spain. They have no existence in Cuba, but the unfortunate Spanish colony of the Philippines has been their happy hunting grounds for many generations.

It is against the intolerable centuries of oppression and extortion at the hands of these religious incorporations and their pliant tools of the civil power that the Filipinos have entered upon their struggle, now at last crowned with success owing to the encouraging influence and aid of Admiral Dewey. By this institution of a joint Spanish-American commission as to the Philippines what is likely to ensue? First of all, it is to be remembered that the American delegates will not be able to forget that Spain has been defeated, her fleets have jurisdiction, Porto Rico surrendered, while the United States declines to consent to take over any of the undoubted immense pecuniary indebtedness of eidelegates of the defeated power with interests the better for humanity at the express object of treating with them large.

over what has been apparently deliberately left as an open question-the destiny of the Philippines-can it humanly be wondered at if the tendency in the mind of the American delegates will be irresistibly toward concession and alleviation of the terms, so as to enable Spain to say that out of the general wreck of her colonial fortunes she had saved some shreds of her ancient dignities and possessions?

But what will all this mean? If it means, in any degree, a survival of Spanish authority; if it means the continued action of the slenderest powers of the obnoxious, cruel and extortionate religious fraternities; it it means that these (as of necessity always) are to retain an arbitrary power of bending the civil, magisterial and judicial officials to their irresponsible will, then indeed will the last state of the people of the Philippines be worse than the first, for the very first impulse of the Spanish power, as much as may be left of it, inspired by the deadliest animosity of the frailes, will be toward the crushing, the extermination, of every man and woman who had dared to strive for equity istice, impartial government, freedom and liberty of thought, speech and action in the Philippines. For America the question is this: "Is America, after rousing hopes, after countenancing the shedding of blood in aspiration to those blessings of liberty and justice which are the root and foundation of national life of the United States, to abandon the simple people of the Philippines to a fate which to comprehend is to shudder at?" Of course America does not know. How can she? But it is right and fair to say, from an absolutely impartial and unbiased point of view-if there be bias at all it is in the direction of a desire to vindicate American honor and reputation for justice-that, whatever the cause of the Cubans be worth, that of the Filipinos, from the poignancy of their sufferings and the hopelessness of their sighs for the barest rights of humanity, deserves an infinitely deeper and more practical sympathy. Their spiritual rulers-we do not refer to the simple village secular priesthood, most of them true Filipinos-have been practically so many Torquemadas to them. Everybody should know and understand what that means. If, then, the joint commission is to imply the smallest reassertion of Spanish authority over the Philippines-and the temptation to accord it is no small one—the American people, or their mandatories, will be responsible for the beginning of an interminable civil war in the Philippines, where now, within the jurisdiction of Aguinaldo and his civil magistrates, all is peace; life and property, even of Spaniards, respected; revenue peacefully collected and applied to public purposes, and all the decencies of good government and justice faithfully and impartially observed. Is that to be undone forever, with all the bitterness of disappointment and despair such a result will entail? America must answer the question; she alone.

But it is more than civil war that President McKinley will bring in sight if he sanctions so obviously risky a thing as this joint commission, with all its inevitable programme of compromise and concession to Spain, unthinking of all that that may mean to hapless millions who have burned their bridges behind them and gone hand in hand with American soldiers and sailors to the liberation of their country from a rule that has proved itself Chinese in its barbarous indifference to the miseries of the ruled. We cannot believe it. If trary will every power of church and in America they could realize the facts of the situation in the Philippines! But by the fact of the creation of this commission they too clearly know not what > they do. Then, again, is it not easy to see that, once grant Spain the most nominal recovery of her authority over the Philippines, or even a portion of the Philippines, the way to external intrigue on the part of foreign nations, whom it is needless to specify, is thrown thereby wide open. Spain has been beaten in the war. Does America think that Spain will forget this or forgive it? What will be the inevitable weapon of revenge? A foreign combination certainly. And how can that best be promoted? Obviously by the opening up of a way for foreign intervention in the Philippines which will be of such a character as to challenge and to break up any ar rangement that a joint commission may come to which recognizes any concurrent status of Spain and the United States in the Philippines and any of the dependencies thereof. To the thoughtful and impartial opserver there is but one way-only one. The United States must so act as at once to secure the permanent happiness and liberties of the hitherto oppressed Filipino nation and to preserve the islands from becoming the theater of external intrigues, connived at by Spain, which shall have for their object the extinction of the newly exerted and altogether beneficent influence of America in the far east and the disturbance of political power in such a manner as to paralyze the action of the peace loving and commerce promoting nationalibeen wiped out, Cuba removed from her ties already well established on the shores of the Pacific-Britain, Japan and the United States. The collective interests, political and commercial, of these powers are of an absolutely overther Cuba or Porto Rico. Knowing all whelming character, and the less the that and going into conference with the chance of conspiracy to disturb those

Does America deliberately mean to abandon in the far east its present magnificent opportunity of usefulness to civilization? We refuse to believe it. The joint commission idea, even with a Filipino representation thrown in to give genuine evidence and see fair play, is a peril to the interests of the United States and to the general interest of all pacific nations-that, too, even if it were held at Manila, as it would need to be. The only solution is an American protectorate, ostensibly temporary, possibly, over the Philippines, thus at once furnishing a lever for the liberation and elevation of a long oppressed and much enduring people and a security against the intrusion of disturbing influences permanently unfriendly to the United States and to the nations whose sympathies and aspirations in the Pacific ocean are thoroughly consonant with her own. - Singapore Free Press.

INSECT HEAVY DRINKERS.

Butterflies Sit For Hours Sucking More Moisture Than Needed.

By means of a large number of observations Mr. J. W. Tutt is able to confirm what has been stated by other observers that certain butterflies and moths are very much addicted to drink. In a paper published in the "proceedings" of the South London Entomological and Natural History society Mr. Tutt says there can be no doubt that butterflies drink more than is required by their tissues under any possible conditions. He has known Polyommatus damon to sit for more than an hour motionless except for the slight movement of sucking up and discharging the moisture almost continuously.

What this internal bath may really mean cannot be surmised. Another important factor as to this drinking habit is a strange one, the "thirsty souls," as far as his observation goes, being almost entirely males. Possibly if exact observations could be made it might be found that females in small numbers also visit puddles, pools and streams for drinking purposes, but as far as Mr. Tutt has been able to discover it is the males alone who indulge ir these copious libations, while the females are away laying eggs. Moths and butterflies of both sexes visit sugar, overripe fruit and similar dainties, but they do so for food. The males alone seem to be attracted by pure water, and Mr. Tutt suggests that, their extra activity having originally given them greater need in this direction, a habit which was at first a necessity has become so pleasurable that excessive drinking has literally become a vice.

MUSIC FROM HEAVEN.

Charming German Method of Summoning Church Worshipers.

While religious music will doubtless live as long as religion itself there is ney Pills very satisfactory. I had been one branch of it—if music it can be called—which is luckily becoming obcalled-which is luckily becoming obsolete. I refer to bells and chimes. I shall never forget the look of distress with which a famous organist once said to me that whenever he heard a set of chimes he wished he could put his ears in his pocket.

In these days of $1 nickel watches bells are no longer needed to inform people when the service begins. They are, moreover, a decided nuisance, and often a dangerous one, for they have killed many invalids whose life depended upon a few hours' sleep, which the bells murdered. In New York bell ringing has been frequently stopped on account of complaints to the board of health.

If it seems desirable to have a means of summoning worshipers to church, why not adopt the delightful old custom that is still observed in some south German villages and in the city of Stuttgart? There four trombone players ascend a church tower three times a day and play a solemn chorale.

In all my musical experience I have never heard anything more thrilling than those majestic harmonies in the air, which seemed to come straight from heaven. If our churches would adopt this custom and these celestial sounds became associated with religious experiences, they might arouse the dormant devotion of many a one who otherwise would pass the church door by .-

Swenson Obeyed Instructions.

It was in an aristocratic Hyde Park home. The well trained English butler had left, and the newly engaged man, a Swede, was in process of breaking in. Callers came, and he took the cards to his mistress in his ungloved hands, leaving the silver card tray resting quietly in the hall.

"When you bring things in here, Swenson," said she, "use the tray. It is not proper to bring them in your hands.'

"Yaas," he replied.

Mrs. H. Park had a new toy terrier. The guests wished to see it, and she sent for Swenson to fetch it.

Soon there was a succession of staccato yelps and whines. The door opened, a very red faced Swenson appeared with the silver tray in his left hand and a tiny dog terrier held firmly down on it with the other. - London Globe.

Thousands of women fail of this for one great prevalent reason. While they resort to every device to preserve their beauty of complexion by external applications and possibly take the best care of their general health, they are too frequently utterly neglectful of their health in a special womanly way. No woman can remain beautiful, attractive or amiable, who suffers from weakness and disease of the delicate and important feminine organism. A woman who suffers in this way will lose her clearness of complexion, her eyes will become dull, worry and pain will mark her face with wrinkles and she will become nervous, with the factful and despondent. There is sickly, fretful and despondent. There is a sovereign remedy for all troubles of this description. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

"My illness was caused by lack of medical attention during childbirth. It lasted for a period of three years, during which my suffering was almost indescribable," writes Mrs. Edith Petty, of Texanna. Cherokee Nat., Ind. Ter. "Owing to the injuries received—rupture, internal displacement, etc., I became a physical wreck. I was in a constant state of pain and nervous collapse. I became so nervous I feared insanity. My heart was affected and I had spells of palpitation and smothering. Was reduced in strength and could take no solid food. The doctors told me that recovery was impossible without a surgical operation. My monthly periods ceased entirely. My mother bought a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I took twelve bottles. Thanks to an All-wise Providence and Doctor Pierce's medicines, the symptoms have all disappeared. I can now do a hard day's work, eat appeared. I can now do a hard day's work, eat anything and everything I wish. I regard my recovery as permanent, for it is nearly two years since I stopped taking Dr. Pierce's medicines.

Work seemed to be a drag; I had no energy, and I am more than thankful that I was induced to go to the W. & W. Pharmacy and get Doan's Kidney Pills. #### PHILIPPINE PROBLEM.

Serious Statement Made by a Leading Singapore Paper.

ITS VIEW OF OUR DUTY IN THE EAST

An Opinion of What Is Likely to Ensue by the Institution of a Joint Spanish-American Commission-Result of the Return of the Philippines to Spain-An American Protectorate Said to Be the Only Solu-

Of the latest war news the item that most closely concerns the far east is the announcement that the future of the Philippines, concerning which the United States government is clearly unable to make up its mind definitely, is to be considered by a joint commission of American and Spanish delegates. That statement, if authentic, as there is every reason to suppose it to be, may well give cause for anxiety to all who are interested in the maintenance of the balance of power in the far east, who desire to see peace prevail and commerce prosper and who are convinced that by retaining a large degree of control over the Philippines the United States would thereby be doing no more than assuming that position as a great power on the Pacific that it is right and necessary for her to acquire.

It may well be asked why, in the announcement of the proposed institution of a Hispano-American joint commission for the determination of the future of the Philippines, there should be apprehended any possibility of peril. Our reply is that the danger is to be found in the presumption, in the fact of the creation of such a commission, that the result to be arrived at must be of the nature of a compromise between the interests of the two parties to the discussion. Compromise, to our thinking and according to our estimate of the situation, would in such a matter be fatal to the cause of lasting peace.

To compare, in passing, the relative positions of the populations of Cuba and of the Philippines under Spanish rule it is true to say that while the easier opportunity for American intervention was apparent in the Cuban case, partly owing to proximity and the resultant commingling of commercial interests, yet the dire necessity for intervention from some humane quarter or other was. far more clamant in the case of the Philippines. It is proper to assume that in both cases, Cuba and the Philippines, the main features of Spanish administration—call it maladministration if you will-were practically identical, and that therefore all the consequent grievances and disabilities that ensued to the disadvantage of the two populations were similar in nature and perhaps in intensity.

Had that been all the mild and tractable Filipino population might never have showed intolerance of Spanish rule in the way in which their brothers in misfortune in Cuba have done. But within the Philippines there has existed for centuries a dominant power that has absolutely overridden the entire influence over these has in effect held in the hollow of its hand the lives and fortunes of each individual Filipino beyond all hope of appeal for protection to the ordinary tribunals of the law. We refer, of course, to the great religious fraternities who sway to their arbitrary will every power of church and state in the Philippines. Their members, in many instances, are grasping, unscrupulous and vicious. It has been related by those who know that the honor of wife or the virtue of daughter of the unlucky Filipino is held at the disposal of the fraile on demand. Resistance to such a demand means certain denouncement of the victim to the civil power as a "Freemason" or a "sympathizer with insurrectos."

The civil official knows much better than to question any charge of this kind emanating from such a source, and the unlucky man vanishes, perhaps forever, from his family. What goes on in Philippine prisons without trial in the way of torture, misery, thirst, starvation, mutilation and murder has been of late a common enough theme. These religious orders have, it is well known, been expelled from Spain. They have no existence in Cuba, but the unfortunate Spanish colony of the Philippines has been their happy hunting grounds for many generations.

It is against the intolerable centuries of oppression and extortion at the hands of these religious incorporations and their pliant tools of the civil power that the Filipinos have entered upon their struggle, now at last crowned with success owing to the encouraging influence and aid of Admiral Dewey. By this institution of a joint Spanish-American commission as to the Philippines what is likely to ensue? First of all, it is to be remembered that the American delegates will not be able to forget that Spain has been defeated, her fleets have been wiped out, Cuba removed from her jurisdiction, Porto Rico surrendered. while the United States declines to conimmense pecuniary indebtedness of eidelegates of the defeated power with interests the better for humanity at the express object of treating with them large.

over what has been apparently deliberately left as an open question—the desbe wondered at if the tendency in the mind of the American delegates will be irresistibly toward concession and alleviation of the terms, so as to enable Spain to say that out of the general wreck of her colonial fortunes she had saved some shreds of her ancient dignities and possessions?

But what will all this mean? If it means, in any degree, a survival of Spanish authority; if it means the continged action of the slenderest powers of the obnoxious, cruel and extortionate religious fraternities; if it means that these (as of necessity always) are to retain an arbitrary power of bending the civil, magisterial and judicial officials to their irresponsible will, then indeed will the last state of the people of the Philippines be worse than the first, for the very first impulse of the Spanish power, as much as may be left of it, inspired by the deadliest animosity of the frailes, will be toward the crushing, the extermination, of every man and woman who had dared to strive for equity istice, impartial government, freedom and liberty of thought, speech and action in the Philippines. For America the question is this: "Is America, after rousing hopes, after countenancing the shedding of blood in aspiration to those blessings of liberty and justice which are the root and foundation of national life of the United States, to abandon the simple people of the Philippines to a fate which to comprehend is to shudder at?" Of course America does not know. How can she? But it is right and fair to say, from an absolutely impartial and unbiased point of view—if there be bias at all it is in the direction of a desire to vindicate American honor and reputation for justice-that, whatever the cause of the Cubans be worth, that of the Filipinos, from the poignancy of their sufferings and the hopelessness of their sighs for the barest rights of humanity, deserves an infinitely deeper and more practical sympathy. Their spiritual rulers-we do not refer to the simple village secular priesthood, most of them true Filipinos-have been practically so many Torquemadas to them. Everybody should know and understand what that means. If, then, the joint commission is to imply the smallest reassertion of Spanish authority over the Philippines-and the temptation to accord it is no small one—the American people, or their mandatories, will be responsible for the beginning of an interminable civil war in the Philippines, where now, within the jurisdiction of Aguinaldo and his civil magistrates, all is peace; life and property, even of Spaniards, respected; revenue peacefully collected and applied to public purposes, and all the decencies of good government and justice faithfully and impartially observed. Is that to be undone forever, with all the bitterness of disappointment and despair such a result will entail? America must answer the question: she alone.

But it is more than civil war that President McKinley will bring in sight if he sanctions so obviously risky a thing as this joint commission, with all its inevitable programme of compromise and concession to Spain, unthinking of all that that may mean to hapless millions who have burned their bridges behind them and gone hand in hand with American soldiers and sailors to the liberation of their country from a rule that has proved itself Chinese in its barbarous indifference to the miseries of the ruled. We cannot believe it. If in America they could realize the facts of the situation in the Philippines! But by the fact of the creation of this commission they too clearly know not what they do. Then, again, is it not easy to see that, once grant Spain the most nominal recovery of her authority over the Philippines, or even a portion of the Philippines, the way to external intrigue on the part of foreign nations, whom it is needless to specify, is thrown thereby wide open. Spain has been beaten in the war. Does America think that Spain will forget this or forgive it? What will be the inevitable weapon of revenge? A foreign combination certainly. And how can that best be promoted? Obviously by the opening up of a way for foreign intervention in the Philippines which will be of such a character as to challenge and to break up any ar rangement that a joint commission may come to which recognizes any concur-States in the Philippines and any of the dependencies thereof. To the thoughtful and impartial opserver there is but one way-only one. The United States must so act as at once to secure the permanent happiness and liberties of the hitherto oppressed Filipino nation and to preserve the islands from becoming the theater of external intrigues, connived at by Spain, which shall have for their object the extinction of the newly exerted and altogether beneficent influence of America in the far east and the disturbance of political power in such a manner as to paralyze the action of the peace loving and commerce promoting nationalities already well established on the shores of the Pacific-Britain, Japan and the United States. The collective sent to take over any of the undoubted interests, political and commercial, of these powers are of an absolutely overther Cuba or Porto Rico. Knowing all whelming character, and the less the that and going into conference with the chance of conspiracy to disturb those

Does America deliberately mean to abandon in the far east its present magtiny of the Philippines—can it humanly nificent opportunity of usefulness to civilization? We refuse to believe it. The joint commission idea, even with a Filipino representation thrown in to give genuine evidence and see fair play, is a peril to the interests of the United States and to the general interest of all pacific nations-that, too, even if it were held at Manila, as it would need to be. The only solution is an American protectorate, ostensibly temporary, possibly, over the Philippines, thus at once furnishing a lever for the liberation and elevation of a long oppressed and much enduring people and a security against the intrusion of disturbing influences permanently unfriendly to the United States and to the nations whose sympathies and aspirations in the Pacific ocean are thoroughly consonant with her own. -Singapore Free Press.

INSECT HEAVY DRINKERS.

Butterflies Sit For Hours Sucking More Moisture Than Needed.

By means of a large number of observations Mr. J. W. Tutt is able to confirm what has been stated by other observers that certain butterflies and moths are very much addicted to drink. In a paper published in the "proceedings" of the South London Entomological and Natural History society Mr. Tutt says there can be no doubt that butterflies drink more than is required by their tissues under any possible conditions. He has known Polyommatus damon to sit for more than an hour motionless except for the slight movement of sucking up and discharging the moisture almost continuously.

What this internal bath may really mean cannot be surmised. Another important factor as to this drinking habit is a strange one, the "thirsty souls," as far as his observation goes, being almost entirely males. Possibly if exact observations could be made it might be found that females in small numbers also visit puddles, pools and streams for drinking purposes, but as far as Mr. Tutt has been able to discover it is the males alone who indulge ir these copious libations, while the females are away laying eggs. Moths and butterflies of both sexes visit sugar, overripe fruit and similar dainties, but they do so for food. The males alone seem to be attracted by pure water, and Mr. Tutt suggests that, their extra activity having originally given them greater need in this direction, a habit which was at first a necessity has become so pleasurable that excessive drinking has literally become a vice.

called-which is luckily becoming obsolete. I refer to bells and chimes. I shall never forget the look of distress with which a famous organist once said to me that whenever he heard a set of chimes he wished he could put his ears stooping or lifting that felt as if a sharp in his pocket.

In these days of $1 nickel watches bells are no longer needed to inform people when the service begins. They are, moreover, a decided nuisance, and often a dangerous one, for they have killed many invalids whose life depended upon a few hours' sleep, which the bells murdered. In New York bell ringing has been frequently stopped on account of complaints to the board of health.

If it seems desirable to have a means of summoning worshipers to church, why not adopt the delightful old custom that is still observed in some south German villages and in the city of Stuttgart? There four trombone players ascend a church tower three times a day and play a solemn chorale.

In all my musical experience I have never heard anything more thrilling than those majestic harmonies in the air, which seemed to come straight from heaven. If our churches would adopt this custom and these celestial sounds became associated with religious experiences, they might arouse the dormant devotion of many a one who otherwise would pass the church door by .-Forum.

Swenson Obeyed Instructions.

It was in an aristocratic Hyde Park home. The well trained English butler had left, and the newly engaged man, a rent status of Spain and the United Swede, was in process of breaking in. Callers came, and he took the cards to his mistress in his ungloved hands, leaving the silver card tray resting quietly in the hall.

"When you bring things in here, Swenson," said she, "use the tray. It is not proper to bring them in your hands.

"Yaas," he replied. Mrs. H. Park had a new toy terrier. The guests wished to see it, and she sent for Swenson to fetch it.

Soon there was a succession of staccato yelps and whines. The door opened, a very red faced Swenson appeared with the silver tray in his left hand and a tiny dog terrier held firmly down on it with the other. - London Globe.

Thousands of women fail of this for one great prevalent reason. While they resort to every device to preserve their beauty of complexion by external applications and possibly take the best care of their general health, they are too frequently utterly neglectful of their health in a special womanly way. No woman can remain beautiful, attractive or amiable, who suffers from weakness and disease of the delicate and import. ant feminine organism. A woman who suffers in this way will lose her clearness of complexion, her eyes will become dull, worry and pain will mark her face with wrinkles and she will become nervous, sickly, fretful and despondent. "My illness was caused by lack of medical attention during childbirth. It lasted for a period of three years, during which my suffering was almost indescribable," writes Mrs. Edith Petty, of Texanna, Cherokee Nat., Ind. Ter. "Owing to the injuries received—rupture, internal displacement, etc., I became a physical wreck. I was in a constant state of pain and nervous collapse. I became so nervous I feared insanity. My heart was affected and I had spells of palpitation and smothering. Was reduced in strength and could take no solid food. The doctors told me that recovery was impossible without a surgical operation. My monthly periods ceased entirely. My mother bought a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Pavorite Prescription. I took twelve bottles, Thanks to an All-wise Providence and Doctor Pierce's medicines, the symptoms have all disappeared. I can now do a hard day's work, eat anything and everything I wish. I regard my recovery as permanent, for it is nearly two years since I stopped taking Dr. Pierce's medicines."

Embraced by a Devil Fish.

A diver engaged in Moyne river in Australia had a terrible experience with a sea devil. Having fired off a charge of dynamite and displaced a large quantity of stones he went to the bottom of the river and while engaged in rolling over a large stone he saw something moving about in front of him. This object quickly came in contact with him and coiled about his arm. The diver walked slowly and painfully along with the sea devil's feelers twined about his body and legs. He made tracks for the ladder and gained the boat, a curious looking object indeed, with this huge ugly thing entangled about his body. With the help of the sailors he was in time freed from his submarine companion. The body of the octopus was only about the size of a large soup plate, with eyes like a sheep's, but it possessed nine arms, each four feet in length, at the butt as thick as a man's wrist and tapering off at the end like a penknife. All along the under part of the feelers of this strange sea creature are suckers every quarter of an inch, giving it immense power.

One day when Queen Victoria was present in her carriage at a military review the princess royal, then rather a willful girl of 13 or 14, sitting on the front seat, seemed disposed to be rather familiar and coquettish with some young officers of the escort. Her majesty gave several reproving looks without avail. At length, in flirting her hand-kerchief over the sides of the carriage, the princess dropped it, too evidently not accidentally. Instantly two or three young officers sprang from their saddles to return it, but the voice of the queen staid them.

"Stop, gentlemen, leave it just where it lies," she said. "Now, my daughter, get down from the carriage and pick up your handkerchief." There was no help for it. The royal footman let down the steps for the little lady, who proceeded to lift from the dust the pretty piece of cambric and lace. She-blushed a good deal as she turned her head saucily, but was doubtless angry enough.

Having fired off a charge of dynamite and displaced a large quantity of stones he went to the bottom of the river and while engaged in rolling over a large stone he saw something moving about in front of him. This object quickly came in contact with him and coiled about his arm. The diver walked slowly and painfully along with the sea devil's feelers twined about his body and legs. He made tracks for the ladder and gained the boat, a curious looking object indeed, with this huge ugly thing entangled about his body. With the help of the sailors he was in time freed from his submarine companion. The body of the octopus was only about the size of a large soup plate, with eyes like a sheep's, but it possessed nine arms, each four feet in length, at the butt as thick as a man's wrist and tapering off at the end like a penknife. All along the under part of the feelers of this strange sea creature are suckers every quarter of an inch, giving it immense power.

A Flirtation Checked.

One day when Queen Victoria was present in her carriage at a military review the princess royal, then rather a willful girl of 13 or 14, sitting on the front seat, seemed disposed to be rather familiar and coquettish with some young officers of the escort. Her majesty gave several reproving looks without avail. At length, in flirting her handkerchief over the sides of the carriage. the princess dropped it, too evidently not accidentally. Instantly two or three young officers sprang from their saddles to return it, but the voice of the queen staid them.

"Stop, gentlemen, leave it just where it lies," she said. "Now, my daughter, get down from the carriage and pick up your handkerchief." There was no help for it. The royal footman let down the steps for the little lady, who proceeded to lift from the dust the pretty piece of cambric and lace. She-blushed a good deal as she turned her head saucily, but was doubtless angry enough.

It matters not what Democratic campaign orators may say of free silver, the war with Spain, alleged incompetency in the army or a few old matters they may rake from the dead embers of former political fires, it can be safely said that none will be so bold as to discuss the tariff. That question has gone from them forever. The oratorical slush they gave the people and labeled it argument against protection has been swept away, and with it has gone what few facts, if there ever were facts, they possessed. The McKinley bill convinced a portion of the people, the Dingley bill has done the rest. There is no longer ground enough for the free trader or low tariff man to stand. Before the days of dentists, and when cople generally believed in the value of charms, there were ever so many mysterious ways of preventing tooth-

One of these was to dress the right side of the body first-right stocking, right shoe, right sleeve, right glove. A favorite plan in Scotland was to draw a tooth, salt it well and burn it in full view on glowing coals. In Cornwall many save their teeth by biting the first young ferns that appear.

The custom of catching a common ground mole, cutting off the paws while the little creature still lives, and wearing them, is traced to Staffordshire, England. Some people who are fond of exercise believe that walking 12 miles -no more, no less-to get a splinter of the toothache tree that grows particularly well in Canada and Virginia will drive away the worst ache and pain that ever tortured a poor tooth.

The belief that toothache is caused by a worm at the roots is prevalent in many parts of the world; hence this cure: Reduce several different kinds of herbs-the greater variety the betterto a powder. Put a glowing cinder into this powder and inhale the incense. Afterward breathe into a cup of water and the worm will be gone forever.

EX-MINISTER DENBY FAVORS HOLD-ING ALL THE PHILIPPINES.

Says We Have a Great Opportunity to Firmly Establish Our Commerce With the East-Predicts Trouble if We Keep Only Luzon.

Mr. Charles Denby, for more than 13 years minister of the United States in China, is perhaps better qualified than any other American to speak intelligently on all questions relating to the orient, and what he has to say therefore on the subject of the Philippines is worthy of special consideration. In a long conversation the other day the retiring minister gave me his views upon the entire situation in the orient, and especially the position which the United States should assume, so as to secure the greatest commercial advantages in those countries which are now opening up to western civilization. So important does he consider this subject of commercial expansion in the orient that he deems the question of the disposition of the Philippines largely subordinate to it and would solve it in the manner best calculated to insure the development of American commerce. "Heretofore," said Mr. Denby, "the United States has been compelled to stand by in China and witness the strife of the other great commercial nations of the world to obtain advantages that were in many instances opposed to our interests. While Great Britain, France, Germany and Russia have obtained footholds, naval stations and cessions of ports and territory we have made no efforts in that direction and have not entered a protest against the aggression of other nations.

"Now, the victory of Admiral Dewey in Manila bay and the subsequent taking of Manila have changed all this. We have a naval, military and commercial base in the orient, and it will not be necessary for us to take any position on the mainland. The only question before the American peace commissioners, in my opinion, should be whether the United States should retain the whole of the Philippine group or only the island of Luzon. I cannot conceive that it should be proposed to keep less than the island of Luzon, and my own view is that we should keep the entire group of the Philippines. It may be that from my long term of service in China my views as to the importance of that part of the world may be exaggerated, but now, after long waiting, we are offered an opportunity to take a leading part in the commercial development of the orient, and I, for one, hope that we will take such action as will be of the greatest benefit to the people of the United States."

I asked Mr. Denby what he thought would be the effect of the retention of only the island of Luzon and the return of all the other islands to Spainwhether under such circumstances a larger force of men would be required to preserve order and maintain the position of the United States than would be needed if the entire group should be held. "It is quite possible," said he, "that if we should return all the islands but Luzon to Spain and if Spain should succeed in re-establishing ner authority over them the proximity of that power to us in the neighboring islands would generate friction, which might require us to keep a larger military force there than we otherwise would and might endanger the peace. There would also be danger of a war in which we might possibly be involved if any of the other nations of Europe should undertake to take control of the islands."

I asked Mr. Denby whether he thought it would be necessary for the United States to maintain a large military force permanently in the Philippines, if all the islands should be retained. "There we come to the real point of most of the opposition to taking all of the islands," as the reply. "It is the fear that it would necessitate a large standing army, and there are in the United States a large number of persons who are opposed to a large army. I would not undertake to say how many troops would be required in the Philippines. That is a question for a military expert. I am of the opinion, however, that after the islands had once been pacified a comparatively small force of men would be sufficient. Of course it might require a larger navy."

While appreciating the importance of the trade of the Philippines themselves, especially in hemp, sugar and tobacco, Mr. Denby does not consider that of the first importance in determining whether the islands should be held by the United States. He believes that with the Philippines in our possession and the Hawaiian Islands as a stepping stone in the middle of the Pacific the United States would take a commanding position in the east and would obtain a large share of the commercial benefits of the opening up of China. He believes that if the islands are to be surrendered to Spain or to any other nation the United States has made a great mistake in allowing Admiral Dewey and General Merritt to take possession of the bay and city of Manila.

"If we withdraw now," said he, "we throw away this great opportunity, which has been opened and accepted as the manifest destiny of this nation. We close the door and close it so that it will never open to us again. We shut out the far east from our influence and do it deliberately. We can never reconsider such a step. It would have been far betser for our trade and our influence, commercial and religious, if Admiral Dewey and never gone near the Philippines. We are confronted with this great opportunity at a time when the far east has become recognized as the coming center of the greatest commercial development, and when China is threatened with partition by the European powers."—Cor. So important does he consider this subject of commercial expansion in the orient that he deems the question of the disposition of the Philippines largely subordinate to it and would solve it in the manner best calculated to insure the development of American commerce.

"Heretofore," said Mr. Denby, "the United States has been compelled to stand by in China and witness the strife of the other great commercial nations of the world to obtain advantages that were in many instances opposed to our interests. While Great Britain, France, Germany and Russia have obtained footholds, naval stations and cessions of ports and territory we have made no efforts in that direction and have not entered a protest against the aggression of other nations.

"Now, the victory of Admiral Dewey in Manila bay and the subsequent taking of Manila have changed all this. We have a naval, military and commercial base in the orient, and it will not be necessary for us to take any position on the mainland. The only question before the American peace commissioners, in my opinion, should be whether the United States should retain the whole of the Philippine group or only the island of Luzon. I cannot conceive that it should be proposed to keep less than the island of Luzon, and my own view is that we should keep the entire group of the Philippines. It may be that from my long term of service in China my views as to the importance of that part of the world may be exaggerated, but now, after long waiting, we are offered an opportunity to take a leading part in the commercial development of the orient, and I, for one, hope that we will take such action as will be of the greatest benefit to the people of the United States. '

I asked Mr. Denby what he thought would be the effect of the retention of only the island of Luzon and the return of all the other islands to Spainwhether under such circumstances a larger force of men would be required to preserve order and maintain the position of the United States than would be needed if the entire group should be held. "It is quite possible," said he, "that if we should return all the islands but Luzon to Spain and if Spain should succeed in re-establishing ner authority over them the proximity of that power to us in the neighboring islands would generate friction, which might require us to keep a larger military force there than we otherwise would and might endanger the peace. There would also be danger of a war in which we might possibly be involved if any of the other nations of Europe should undertake to take control of the islands."

I asked Mr. Denby whether he thought it would be necessary for the United States to maintain a large military force permanently in the Philippines, if all the islands should be retained. "There we come to the real point of most of the opposition to taking all of the islands," was the reply. "It is the fear that it would necessitate a large standing army, and there are in the United States a large number of persons who are opposed to a large army. I would not undertake to say how many troops would be required in the Philippines. That is a question for a military expert. I am of the opinion, however, that after the islands had once been pacified a comparatively small force of men would be sufficient. Of course it might require a larger navy."

While appreciating the importance of the trade of the Philippines themselves, especially in hemp, sugar and tobacco, Mr. Denby does not consider that of the first importance in determining whether the islands should be held by the United States. He believes that with the Philippines in our possession and the Hawaiian Islands as a stepping stone in the middle of the Pacific the United States would take a commanding position in the east and would obtain a large share of the commercial benefits of the opening up of China. He believes that if the islands are to be surrendered to Spain or to any other nation the United States has made a great mistake in allowing Admiral Dewey and General Merritt to take possession of the bay and city of

"If we withdraw now," said he, "we throw away this great opportunity, which has been opened and accepted as the manifest destiny of this nation. We close the door and close it so that it will never open to us again. We shut out the far east from our influence and do it deliberately. We can never reconsider such a step. It would have been far betser for our trade and our influence, commercial and religious, if Admiral Dewey and never gone near the Philippines. We are confronted with this great opportunity at a time when the far east has become recognized as the coming center of the greatest commercial development, and when China is threatened with partition by the European powers."—Cor. Mr. Hill, chairman of the pure water committee, stated the members had decided upon clear water, but the way to obtain this had not been determined. A filter will be placed in the Central building this week on trial.

Mr. Hill also reported that the dictionary committee found the work in question equal to all it is said to be.

The following bills were read and ordered paid:

The bonds were sold to Mr. McCullough, he being the nighest bidder.

Doctor Williams wanted to know if all teachers who were recently elected had obtained certificates, especially in the case of Miss Andrews.

Mr. Peach then stated that the teachers had been elected illegally and made a motion to that effect. The motion was seconded by Doctor Williams.

Mr. Murphy then said:

"Mr. Peach, do you want the schools to stop and have these teachers deprived of their positions all because you was not in the city and out on a pleasure trip?"

"I have nothing to say to that Mr. Murphy. I knew nothing of the meeting, and all I say is that the teachers are holding their positions illegally."

President Vodrey then said that he called up Mr. Peach's residence to advise him of the special meeting, and learned that he was not in the city.

"I refer you to the city solicitor," retorted Mr. Peach, "as to the way the meeting was called." The motion was put and lost by a

The Khalifa's Cruelty.

The khalifa's character is a strange mixture of malice and cruelty. He delights to annoy and cause disappointment and is never happier than when he is robbing families wholesale and seizing and executing all persons of influence and authority. It was this Abdullah who gave the order for no quarter at the storming of Khartum, and it was he and not his master, the Mahdi, who authorized the wholesale massacre of men, women and children at the fall of the city. He has caused the deaths of thousands of innocent people, and Slatin Pasha says that when he was in prison the khalifa had the right hand and left foot of a certain general publicly cut off in the market place because he had been unsuccessful in an expedition. But in spite of his tyrannical nature he is said to be devoted to his eldest son, Osman, who is now a young man of 25 years of age.-New York Sun.

The Khalifa's Cruelty.

The khalifa's character is a strange mixture of malice and cruelty. He delights to annoy and cause disappointment and is never happier than when he is robbing families wholesale and seizing and executing all persons of influence and authority. It was this Abdullah who gave the order for no quarter at the storming of Khartum, and it was he and not his master, the Mahdi, who authorized the wholesale massacre of men, women and children at the fall of the city. He has caused the deaths of thousands of innocent people, and Slatin Pasha says that when he was in prison the khalifa had the right hand and left foot of a certain general publicly cut off in the market place because he had been unsuccessful in an expedition. But in spite of his tyrannical nature he is said to be devoted to his eldest son, Osman, who is now a young man of 25 years of age. - New York Sun.

ONE MAN IS IN JAIL

But a Number Paid Fines and Were Released.

A SMALL BOY WAS ARRESTED

For Fighting In Sixth Street-Visitor From Ford City Toyed With the Sprinkler System at Sebring's-A Woman Will Soon Be Heard.

Mayor Bough gave out some news this morning. Monday is usually a good day for city hall, and yesterday was no exception.

George Kilmer, a small boy living with his parents in Third street, was arrested in Sixth street last night by Officer White. He was charged with assaulting a boy by the name of Berkheim in front of the opera house. He was taken to jail, and today paid $6.60.

Henry Wolf, who was arrested Saturday night on a charge of disorderly conduct, appeared yesterday afternoon and pleaded guilty to the charge. He was fined $7.60 and released.

John Rolley, of Ford City, came to town yesterday and proceeded to load up on bad whisky. He went to the Sebring pottery where he destroyed the glass in the stand pipe of the sprinkler system. The company made information charging him with destruction of property. He was arrested later in the Exchange saloon by Officer White and taken to city hall. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $5.60. He paid.

Mary Blakely, who lives in West End, was arrested Saturday evening by Officer McMillan on complaint of Mrs. Garvey. The woman claims that the defendant assaulted her daughter, Mary, last Thursday night. She appeared yesterday and pleaded not guilty. The hearing has not been set, but will probably be the last of the week.

Mr. Paden, who was fined $9.60 yesterday is still in, caused by non-payment of his fine.

The hearing of Joe Drake, who was arrested several days ago on a charge of disorderly conduct, will be set for the last of the week.

The jail is now occupied by one man.

A HANDSOME LOCKET

Was Given Mr. Jacob Mielziner by the Reformed Congregation.

A very pleasant surprise party wa given last evening at the Joseph residence in Sixth street in honor of Mr. Jacob Mielziner, the theological student of Cincinnati, who is at present conducting the services of the newly organized Reformed congregation of this city and Wellsville. The young man yesterday attained his majority, and in honor of that event the party was given.

He was agreeably surprised, but was completely taken back when William Erlanger in a few remarks on behalf of the congregation presented him with a locket set with diamonds. He responded In a neat speech, thanking the congregation for the gift. Refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening was spent in music and dancing.

Having been disappointed in a rise rivermen are not down hearted. They look for the best and say that a rise must come some time in the near future. The marks at the wharf this morning registered 22 inches and stationary.

THE FIRST PHOTOGRAPHS.

Professor Draper's Sister Sat Thirty Minutes For Her Portrait.

Elizabeth Flint Wade has an illustrated paper on "Photography-Its Marvels" in St. Nicholas. The anthor says:

The first accounts of this great discovery are very entertaining reading. Professor Morse, the inventor of the telegraph, was in Paris when the news was published, and at once went to see Daguerre's wonderful pictures. In describing them afterward he said that moving objects made no impression on the plate, for a picture taken of a crowded boulevard showed it as if entirely deserted, with the exception of a man having his shoes polished. The man's feet, he said, were well defined, because they were kept stationary, but he was without head or body, for these were in motion.

To America belongs the honor of making the first photographic portrait, the artist being Professor John Draper, a professor and afterward the president of the University of New York. His victim was his sister, Miss Catherine Draper. He powdered her face, that the likeness might be more quickly impressed on the sensitive plate, and for 30 minutes Miss Draper sat-or, at least, tried to sit—as immovable as a statue.

The first class in photography was formed in Boston in the spring of 1840 by Daguerre's agent, Gourad of Paris. The Rev. Edward Everett Hale, then a student in Harvard, became an enthusiastic member of the class. In his diary, under date of April 1, 1840, is this entry: "On my way home I stopped at the shop and got my daguerreotype thermometer. There seems to be a great demand; there were three or four others

THE RICH RUSSIAN.

He Has a Weakness For an Army of Family Servants.

We were a family of 8, occasionally of 10 or 12 says Prince Kropotkin in The Atlantic, but 50 servants at Moscow, and half as many more in the country, were considered not one too many. Four coachmen to attend a dozen horses, three cooks for the masters and two more for the servants, a dozen men to wait upon us at dinner time-one man, plate in hand, standing behind each person seated at the table-and girls innumerable in the maidservants' room, but how could any one do with less than this?

Besides, the ambition of every landed proprietor was that everything required for his household should be made at home by his "own" men.

"How nicely your piano is always tuned. I suppose Herr Schimmel must be your tuner?" one of the visitors would remark.

To be able to answer, "I have my own piano tuner," was in those times the correct thing.

"What beautiful pastry!" the guests would exclaim when a work of art. composed of ices and pastry, appeared toward the end of the dinner. "Confess, prince, that it comes from Tremble' (the fashionable pastry cook).

"It is my own confectioner, a pupil of Tremble, whom I have allowed to show what he can do," was the reply which elicited general admiration.

To have embroideries, harnesses, furniture—in fact everything—made by one's "own" men was the ideal of the rich and respected landed proprietor.

Bismarck as Dr. Jekyll.

No greater contrast could possibly be imagined than that which existed between the Bismarck of private life and the Bismarck of politics. "In the home circle," writes a correspondent who knew him well, "he was perfectly charming, easy going and good natured. He was passionately fond of children, and I have seen him over and over again have a game with the little ones of his gardener, who were very familiar with him and would not hesitate to climb upon his knee.

"Once when his gardener's little girl died the great statesman went to condole with him. He was dreadfully upset and while holding the poor father's hand burst into tears, for he was very fond of the child. He kissed the little corpse and himself placed a bunch of roses in its hand. He was always eager to assist his poorer neighbors and enjoyed chatting with them on all subjects but politics. These he never mentioned."-London Chronicle.

The Professor's Wisdom.

The stern professor of the feminine preparatory school sat at his desk trying to unravel a knotty problem when a fluffy haired miss of 16 approached.

"Please, sir," she began in a tremulous voice, "will you grant me permission to go out riding with my brother this afternoon?"

Now, the old man had not forgotten the days of his youth, neither was he a fool, and looking over his spectacles he slowly said:

"So you want to go riding with your brother, do you? By the way, is this brother of yours any relation to you?" -Chicago News.

A HANDSOME LOCKET

Was Given Mr. Jacob Mielziner by the Reformed Congregation.

A very pleasant surprise party was given last evening at the Joseph residence in Sixth street in honor of Mr. Jacob Mielziner, the theological student of Cincinnati, who is at present conducting the services of the newly organized Reformed congregation of this city and Wellsville. The young man yesterday attained his majority, and in honor of that event the party was given.

He was agreeably surprised, but was completely taken back when William Erlanger in a few remarks on behalf of the congregation presented him with a locket set with diamonds. He responded In a neat speech, thanking the congregation for the gift. Refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening was spent in music and dancing.

THE FIRST PHOTOGRAPHS.

Professor Draper's Sister Sat Thirty Minutes For Her Portrait.

Elizabeth Flint Wade has an illustrated paper on "Photography-Its Mar-vels" in St. Nicholas. The anthor says: The first accounts of this great discovery are very entertaining reading. Professor Morse, the inventor of the telegraph, was in Paris when the news was published, and at once went to see Daguerre's wonderful pictures. In describing them afterward he said that moving objects made no impression on the plate, for a picture taken of a crowded boulevard showed it as if entirely deserted, with the exception of a man having his shoes polished. The man's feet, he said, were well defined, were in motion. To America belongs the honor of making the first photographic portrait. the artist being Professor John Draper, a professor and afterward the president of the University of New York. His victim was his sister, Miss Catherine Draper. He powdered her face, that the likeness might be more quickly impressed on the sensitive plate, and for 30 minutes Miss Draper sat-or, at least, tried to sit—as immovable as a statue. The first class in photography was formed in Boston in the spring of 1840 by Daguerre's agent, Gourad of Paris. The Rev. Edward Everett Hale, then a student in Harvard, became an enthusiastic member of the class. In his diary, under date of April 1, 1840, is this entry: "On my way home I stopped at the shop and got my daguerreotype thermometer. There seems to be a great demand; there were three or four others there.

THE RICH RUSSIAN.

He Has a Weakness For an Army of Family Servants.

We were a family of 8, occasionally of 10 or 12 says Prince Kropotkin in The Atlantic, but 50 servants at Moscow, and half as many more in the country, were considered not one too many. Four coachmen to attend a dozen horses, three cooks for the masters and two more for the servants, a dozen men to wait upon us at dinner time-one man, plate in hand, standing behind each person seated at the table-and girls innumerable in the maidservants' room, but how could any one do with less than this?

Besides, the ambition of every landed proprietor was that everything required for his household should be made at home by his "own" men.

"How nicely your piano is always tuned. I suppose Herr Schimmel must be your tuner?" one of the visitors would remark.

To be able to answer, "I have my own piano tuner," was in those times the correct thing.

"What beautiful pastry!" the guests would exclaim when a work of art, composed of ices and pastry, appeared toward the end of the dinner. "Confess, prince, that it comes from Tremble' (the fashionable pastry cook).

"It is my own confectioner, a pupil of Tremble, whom I have allowed to show what he can do," was the reply which elicited general admiration.

To have embroideries, harnesses, furniture-in fact everything-made by one's "own" men was the ideal of the rich and respected landed proprietor.

Bismarck as Dr. Jekyll.

No greater contrast could possibly be imagined than that which existed between the Bismarck of private life and the Bismarck of politics. "In the home circle," writes a correspondent who knew him well, "he was perfectly charming, easy going and good natured. He was passionately fond of children, and I have seen him over and over again have a game with the little ones of his gardener, who were very familiar with him and would not hesitate to climb upon his knee.

"Once when his gardener's little girl died the great statesman went to condole with him. He was dreadfully upset and while holding the poor father's hand burst into tears, for he was very fond of the child. He kissed the little corpse and himself placed a bunch of roses in its hand. He was always eager to assist his poorer neighbors and enjoyed chatting with them on all subjects but politics. These he never mentioned."-London Chronicle.

The Professor's Wisdom.

The stern professor of the feminine preparatory school sat at his desk trying to unravel a knotty problem when a fluffy haired miss of 16 approached.

"Please, sir," she began in a tremulous voice, "will you grant me permission to go out riding with my brother this afternoon?" Now, the old man had not forgotten the days of his youth, neither was he a fool, and looking over his spectacles he slowly said: "So you want to go riding with your brother, do you? By the way, is this brother of yours any relation to you?" -Chicago News.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. ## THAT RAILROAD CHANGE

Amounts to Something More And this is death Than a Dream.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS CONFIDENT Cannot transform my darkness into day.

That Work Will Be Commenced Next spring Building a Line From Kensington, Through Lisbon, to Smith's Ferry. Other Changes.

"Large bodies move slowly, but when the Pennsylvania company decides to make an improvement the work is usually done. They are long headed men, these heads of the great system, and they usually see a good many years in the future. That is why I believe the main line of the Cleveland and Pittsburg will soon pass through Kensington, Lisbon and Smith's Ferry."

The name of the man who gave utterance to the words quoted cannot be given here, but it is enough to say that he is acquainted with the plans of the company and knows as well as any one what will be done. Continuing he said:

"For a number of years the Salineville hill has been a thorn in the side of every man who has had much to do with the operation of the Cleveland and Pittsburg division, and a number of suggestions have been made as to the best means of removing it. Surveys have developed that improvement is next to impossible, and it was determined to move in another direction. That accounts for the published stories that another line was to be built. Several parties have been out, but no survey has been made this year, although an engineer will go over the line soon.

"The road will leave what is now the main line at Kensington, and going down the valley to Lisbon follow the old Beaver canal to Smith's Ferry. There it will fit into the river division and continue to Pittsburg. Passenger trains will of course go over the line, but it will be principally for freight because it will be a splendid line from Cleveland right through to Pittsburg. The road will not cost much to build, and the saving will be great in the years to come. East Liverpool will not suffer by the change, for it will have an excellent passenger service, and all the freight from the river division will of course go that way. If Sunday trains are placed on the line, connection with Smith's Ferry can easily and probably will be made by electric line. At present the Cleveland and Pittsburg handles as much if not more freight than any single track division of the Pennsylvania system. Trains are long and hauled by the second largest engines owned by the big corporation. I believe only a few engines used in the Alleghenies have greater strength than the new freight engines on this line.

"There might be another reason for this contemplated change in the handling of freight, but I am not going to tell you whether it has really been thought of. You know the Panhandle from Wheeling Junction, opposite Steubenville, is one continuous string of long tunnels, deep cuts and dangerous fills. Hundreds of freight wrecks have occurred there, and the property loss has been enormous. Some day, and it may not be farther away than a year or two, all that freight will leave the Panhandle at Mingo, and go over the river division through Liverpool to the Conway yards. That is why so much authors of this class are Scott, Kingsmoney was spent at Rochester, or so I have heard, for every one knows the great yards established there can take care of much more freight than passes over the Fort Wayne."

That was the end of the gentleman's story. He was urged to give some time Hugo's "L'Historie d'un Crime," which when these things would come to pass, but he only smiled and said there was no more to say, nor will there be until work on the new line is commenced, and Kensington will throw off its country airs to become an important railroad junction.

THE ENGLISH NOT PROFANE.

Little Bad Language In London Outside of Petticoat Lane.

Little rough or rude language is used by the English. They even fight without swearing and get very drunk and noisy without employing strong language. They love to chaff and guy each other, and the crowds and the street people who drive horses and peddle goods and hang about the corners are a great deal wittier than most of us give them credit for being, but they seldom resort to bad language. I never heard much of it until I went to Petticoat lane, and I know a woman who has lived here two years and been constantly about town who tells me that in that time she has only heard one oath from an Englishman's lips. The worst word I heard in Petticoat lane was "bloody." That, however, is the worst word I could have heard—in English opinion it is the foulest word there is. I have only heard one man use it and he did not speak it. He was very angry, and he spelled it.

I am telling you this because I know that at home in America we associate it with the English and put it in Englishmen's mouths in our anecdotes, as if it were a matter of course that it should be used to give a local color to an English story. Americans come here and make use of the word for the comic value that they attach to it, and yet I assure my readers that if they tried to think of any really disgusting term they had ever heard and made use of instead they could not more startle or shock these English ears.

English sailors have brought the word "bloody" to our shores—sailors and prizefighters and stablemen, and only such persons oling to it here. What we consider a very much fouler word has a vastly wider circulation, but is not considered as bad as "bloody." All this is very strange and requires a native to explain it, especially as "bloody" is merely the contraction of the oath "by our Lady," which was more or less commonly used in the ancient days when this was a Roman Catholic country.

The people who try to swear without wearing—who in our country say "hully chee" and "by cripes," all use the word "blooming" over here. "1 can't very bloomin well make you buy this bloomin thing, but I'll 'ave a bloomin try at it," is what I heard a street fakir say to a crowd the other day. There is no harm in that at all, and it is much more typically English than the word "bloody," besides being decent. It is funny what mistakes nations make about one another. Over here the very smart thing in reporting the speech of us Americans is to make us all and always call ourselves "Amurricans." It may be true of us. This whole nation believes it. But I never heard an American so pronounce the name of our country, and yet I've got a quick linguistic ear, which is a thing the English utterly lack.—Julian Ralph in Providence Journal.

THAT RAILROAD CHANGE

Amounts to Something More Than a Dream.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS CONFIDENT

That Work Will Be Commenced Next spring Building a Line From Kensington, Through Lisbon, to Smith's Ferry Other Changes.

"Large bodies move slowly, but when the Pennsylvania company decides to make an improvement the work is usually done. They are long headed men, these heads of the great system, and they usually see a good many years in the future. That is why I believe the main line of the Cleveland and Pittsburg will soon pass through Kensington, Lisbon and Smith's Ferry."

The name of the man who gave utterance to the words quoted cannot be given here, but it is enough to say that he is acquainted with the plans of the company and knows as well as any one what will be done. Continuing he said:

"For a number of years the Salineville hill has been a thorn in the side of every man who has had much to do with the operation of the Cleveland and Pittsburg division, and a number of suggestions have been made as to the best means of removing it. Surveys he spelled it. have developed that improvement is next to impossible, and it was determined to move in another direction. That accounts for the published stories that another line was to be built. Several parties have been out, but no survey has been made this year, although an engineer will go over the line soon.

"The road will leave what is now the main line at Kensington, and going down the valley to Lisbon follow the old Beaver canal to Smith's Ferry. There it will fit into the river division and continue to Pittsburg. Passenger trains will of course go over the line, but it will be principally for freight because it will be a splendid line from Cleveland right through to Pittsburg. The road will not cost much to build, and the saving will be great in the years to come. East Liverpool will not suffer by the change, for it will have an excellent passenger service, and all the freight from the river division will of course go that way. If Sunday trains are placed on the line, connection with Smith's Ferry can easily and probably will be made by electric line. At present the Cleveland and Pittsburg handles as much if not more freight than any single track division of the Pennsylvania system. Trains are long and hauled by the second largest engines owned by the big corporation. I believe only a few engines used in the Alleghenies have greater strength than the new freight engines on this line.

"There might be another reason for this contemplated change in the handling of freight, but I am not going to tell you whether it has really been thought of. You know the Panhandle from Wheeling Junction, opposite Steubenville, is one continuous string of long tunnels, deep cuts and dangerous fills. Hundreds of freight wrecks have occurred there, and the property loss has been enormous. Some day, and it may not be farther away than a year or two, all that freight will leave the Panhandle at Mingo, and go over the river division through Liverpool to the Conway yards. That is why so much money was spent at Rochester, or so I have heard, for every one knows the great yards established there can take care of much more freight than passes over the Fort Wayne."

That was the end of the gentleman's story. He was urged to give some time when these things would come to pass, but he only smiled and said there was no more to say, nor will there be until work on the new line is commenced, and Kensington will throw off its country airs to become an important railroad junction.

THE ENGLISH NOT PROFANE

Little Bad Language In London Outside of Petticoat Lane.

Little rough or rude language is used by the English. They even fight without swearing and get very drunk and noisy without employing strong language. They love to chaff and guy each other, and the crowds and the street people who drive horses and peddle goods and hang about the corners are a great deal wittier than most of us give them credit for being, but they seldom resort to bad language. I never heard much of it until I went to Petticoat lane, and I know a woman who has lived here two years and been constantly about town who tells me that in that time she has only heard one oath from an Englishman's lips. The worst word I heard in Petticoat lane was "bloody." That, however, is the worst word I could have heard—in English opinion it is the foulest word there is. I have only heard one man use it and he did not speak it. He was very angry, and

I am telling you this because I know that at home in America we associate it with the English and put it in Englishmen's mouths in our anecdotes, as if it were a matter of course that it should be used to give a local color to an English story. Americans come here and make use of the word for the comic value that they attach to it, and yet I assure my readers that if they tried to think of any really disgusting term they had ever heard and made use of instead they could not more startle or shock these English ears.

English sailors have brought the word "bloody" to our shores—sailors and prizefighters and stablemen, and only such persons cling to it here. What we consider a very much fouler word has a vastly wider circulation, but is not considered as bad as 'bloody." All this is very strange and requires a native to explain it, especially as "bloody" is merely the contraction of the oath "by our Lady," which was more or less commonly used in the ancient days when this was a Roman Catholic country.

The people who try to swear without ewearing-who in our country say "hully chee" and "by cripes," all use the word "blooming" over here. "I can't very bloomin well make you buy this bloomin thing, but I'll 'ave a bloomin try at it," is what I heard a street fakir say to a crowd the other day. There is no harm in that at all, and it is much more typically English than the word "bloody," besides being

It is funny what mistakes nations make about one another. Over here the very smart thing in reporting the speech of us Americans is to make us all and always call ourselves "Amurricans." It may be true of us. This whole nation believes it. But I never heard an American so pronounce the name of our country, and yet I've got a quick linguistic ear, which is a thing the English utterly lack.—Julian Ralph in Providence Journal.

A Really Historical Novel.

To produce a so called historical novel has been attempted by many, but with indifferent success by the majority, so far as history is concerned. Alike the best known and the most successful authors of this class are Scott, Kingsley and Lytton. In grouping books of this type in an order of merit based on their historical worth, it cannot be denied that "The Last of the Barons" should be awarded the first place, with 'Henry Esmond" and "Hereward the Wake" bracketed as second. Victor Hugo's "L'Historie d'un Crime, " which has been called "the apotheosis of the special correspondent," is a notable example of a contemporary history written under a thin disguise of fiction. #### FUTURE WARSHIPS.

CHIEF CONSTRUCTOR HICHBORN'S VIEWS ON THE WAR.

The Warship That Is Most Valuable Is the Battleship-Value of Torpedo Boats-Copper Sheathing Should Be Used on All Our War Vessels.

Chief Constructor Hichborn of the United States navy in an interview has the following to say about the results of "The war has taught us what some of us already held, that the torpedo boat is not the formidable engine of war which it has been credited with being. The naval battles of the future, as of the past, will be fought by the most powerful engines of naval warfare that can be constructed. The battleship, in spite of its great cost, will continue to occupy the prominent place. The torpedo boat will have its uses, but they will not be the most important uses of a naval engagement. During the war ple for miles around were in the big just closed the torpedo boat was practicrowd to hear the Texan. In the course tically of no use at all. Just before the of his speech he said that "no minority outbreak of hostilities there was a party ever passed through a war sesgreat scare on account of the flotilla of sion of congress with so much credit as torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroy. did the Democrats of the present coners which was said to be on its way gress. across the Atlantic from the Cape Verde

"When the war actually came, we heard nothing more about them until they were destroyed. In fact, torpedo boats were not used by either combatant except occasionally for dispatch boats, a duty to which other craft might be more advantageously assigned. The Winslow, it is true, was sent into the dition of the treasury proves conclu-harbor of Cardenas to reconnoiter, but sively that we were right. When conthis was gunboat service and not the gress convenes in December, next it will work for which a torpedo boat is intended. As for the Spanish boats, there above the $100,000,000 gold reserve, will was really nothing to fear from them. Sigsbee made quick work of the Terror off San Juan, although the St. Paul, which he commanded, was exactly the kind of a vessel, unarmored and presenting a full side, that torpedoes might Furor and the Pluton were among the very best and most modern of the destroyer class, and yet the Gloucester, which is merely a converted yacht, defeated them both.

"The war has taught us to rely on our great battleships and cruisers with absolute confidence. Hitherto the question has been open to fair discussion in the absence of any practical illustration of their work in actual warfare. But now we know what they can do. The two vessels which, as ships of war, have given the best account of themselves on their merits, without regard to the manner in which they were hanented, and there is much other import. above criticism with all our ships—are the Oregon and Brooklyn, and these are types of vessels which are likely to come more and more in vogue, not only in the American navy, but in the navies of foreign powers. Battleships will be built more and more on the Oregon plan, with greater speed, if possible, without interfering with their effectiveness as fighting machines.

"We can speak from actual experience now on a great many questions with regard to which we could only theorize three months ago. We know, for instance, that drydocks are needed large enough to receive our biggest ships and numerous enough to prevent the necessity of their lying long without repair or without having their bottoms cleaned. Our first class fighting ships have been in bad condition almost from the beginning of the war simply because we did not have docks large enough to put them into, and, although our smaller craft have been so nearly exempt from day. injury in actual combat, it has been impossible to repair them speedily because we had not enough docks capable of accommodating even them. "The war has shown, too, that the bottoms of all our ships should be copper sheathed, so that they can be kept at sea without the necessity of too frequent docking for cleaning. At present not one of our important ships is copper sheathed. The only sheathed vessels in the navy are the six gunboats of the Annapolis and Marietta classes and the New Orleans and Albany, which we bought from the Brazilian government at the outbreak of the war. With copper sheathed bottoms our ships would be at a great advantage in long cruises, such as are apt to be frequent now that the war has brought into our possession far distant colonies. "Perhaps the most important lesson which we have learned is the necessity of making our fighting ships fireproof. At Manila and at Santiago the Spanish ships took fire, and they suffered as much or more from this cause as from the impact of our shells. Now, it is not at all necessary that a shell in striking a ship should set fire to it. It is necessary to have a certain amount of woodwork in every vessel, although so far as is practicable it is dispensed with. There are some things about even a fighting ship for which no satisfactory substitute for wood has ever been found. But it is quite feasible to make such wood as must be used fireproof by a chemical woodwork of some of our gunboats. The question hitherto as to the advisability of treating the wood of our warships in this way, and various objections have been raised to the increase in weight, the damage done to clothes by being inclosed in chests made of wood so treated and so on. But all these objections are trivial when the aim to be secured is borne in mind. The work will cost a little more, to be sure, but the additional cost cannot be considered in relation to the increased safety secured to our ships of war. I expect that in the future there will be no woodwork the war with Spain and its effect on aboard an American man-of-war which naval matters, says the New York Sun: is not absolutely fireproof."

DEFENDED THE DEMOCRATS.

Bailey Said Condition of Treasury Showed Their Position Was Right on on War Revenue Bill.

DANVILLE, Va., Sept. 20.—Congressman Bailey spoke at Chatham, the county seat, yesterday in the interest of C. A. Swanson, Democratic nominee for congress from the Fifth district. Peo-

"The only important vote which we believed at the time we cast it, could ever become the subject of reasonable controversy, was our vote against the war revenue bill; and events have completely vindicated our course in respect to that measure. We opposed the passage of that bill because we believed that it authorized an unnecessary sale of interest-bearing bonds; and the confind that the surplus in the treasury, exceed the amount received from the sale of bonds, thus demonstrating that there was no necessity for the government to sell its bonds.

"Our Republican friends cannot ex-cuse themselves by saying that they could not foresee the early termination be expected to inflict damage on. The of the war, because every man who was Force and the Platon were among the reasonably well informed about the condition of Spain understood that it was impossible for her to continue a long and expensive struggle."

FUTURE WARSHIPS.

CHIEF CONSTRUCTOR HICHBORN'S VIEWS ON THE WAR.

The Warship That Is Most Valuable Is the Battleship-Value of Torpedo Boats-Copper Sheathing Should Be Used on All Our War Vessels.

Chief Constructor Hichborn of the United States navy in an interview has the following to say about the results of the war with Spain and its effect on naval matters, says the New York Sun:

"The war has taught us what some of us already held, that the torpedo boat is not the formidable engine of war which it has been credited with being. The naval battles of the future, as of the past, will be fought by the most powerful engines of naval warfare that can be constructed. The battleship, in spite of its great cost, will continue to occupy the prominent place. The tora naval engagement. During the war ple for miles around were in the big just closed the torpedo boat was practicrowd to hear the Texan. In the course tically of no use at all. Just before the of his speech he said that "no minority outbreak of hostilities there was a party ever passed through a war sesgreat scare on account of the flotilla of sion of congress with so much credit as torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroy- did the Democrats of the present coners which was said to be on its way gress. across the Atlantic from the Cape Verde islands.

"When the war actually came, we except occasionally for dispatch boats, a duty to which other craft might be more advantageously assigned. The work for which a torpedo boat is inwas really nothing to fear from them. Sigsbee made quick work of the Terror off San Juan, although the St. Paul, which he commanded, was exactly the kind of a vessel, unarmored and pre-senting a full side, that torpedoes might could not foresee the early termination be expected to inflict damage on. The of the war, because every man who was Furor and the Pluton were among the very best and most modern of the destroyer class, and yet the Gloucester, which is merely a converted yacht, defeated them both.

"The war has taught us to rely on our great battleships and cruisers with absolute confidence. Hitherto the question has been open to fair discussion in the absence of any practical illustration of their work in actual warfare. But now we know what they can do. The two vessels which, as ships of war, have given the best account of themselves on their merits, without regard to the manner in which they were handled-although that, of course, was above criticism with all our ships-are the Oregon and Brooklyn, and these are types of vessels which are likely to come more and more in vogue, not only in the American navy, but in the navies of foreign powers. Battleships will be built more and more on the Oregon plan, with greater speed, if possible, without interfering with their effectiveness as fighting machines.

now on a great many questions with regard to which we could only theorize three months ago. We know, for instance, that drydocks are needed large enough to receive our biggest ships and numerous enough to prevent the necessity of their lying long without repair or without having their bottoms cleaned. Our first class fighting ships have been in bad condition almost from the beginning of the war simply because we did not have docks large enough to put them into, and, although our smaller of Odd Fellows convened here yestercraft have been so nearly exempt from day. injury in actual combat, it has been impossible to repair them speedily because we had not enough docks capable of accommodating even them.

"The war has shown, too, that the bottoms of all our ships should be copper sheathed, so that they can be kept bers, 814,339; encampment members, at sea without the necessity of too frequent docking for cleaning. At present not one of our important ships is copper sheathed. The only sheathed vessels in the navy are the six gunboats of the Annapolis and Marietta classes and the campments, $603,176; revenue of Re-New Orleans and Albany, which we bought from the Brazilian government at the outbreak of the war. With copper sheathed bottoms our ships would be at a great advantage in long cruises, such as are apt to be frequent now that the war has brought into our possession far distant colonies.

"Perhaps the most important lesson which we have learned is the necessity of making our fighting ships fireproof. At Manila and at Santiago the Spanish ships took fire, and they suffered as much or more from this cause as from the impact of our shells. Now, it is not at all necessary that a shell in striking a ship should set fire to it. It is necessary to have a certain amount of woodwork in every vessel, although so far as is practicable it is dispensed with. There are some things about even a fighting ship for which no satisfactory substitute for wood has ever been found. But it is quite feasible to make such wood as must be used fireproof by a chemical process which has been employed in the the household, so very young men marwoodwork of some of our gunboats. The wood is mineralized, if you may use that term, by being impregnated with in honsework. In the lower and midphosphate of ammonia, and after this dle classes women are always helped process has been undergone it is impos- last, and may not sit down unbidden in

DEFENDED THE DEMOCRATS.

Bailey Said Condition of Treasury Showed Their Position Was Right on on War Revenue Bill.

DANVILLE, Va., Sept. 20.—Congressman Bailey spoke at Chatham, the county seat, yesterday in the interest of C. pedo boat will have its uses, but they A. Swanson, Democratic nominee for will not be the most important uses of congress from the Fifth district. Peo-

In fact, torpedo war revenue bill; and events have comboats were not used by either combatant pletely vindicated our course in respect to that measure. We opposed the passage of that bill because we believed that it authorized an unnecessary sale of interest-bearing bonds; and the con-Winslow, it is true, was sent into the dition of the treasury proves concluharbor of Cardenas to reconnoiter, but sively that we were right. When conthis was gunboat service and not the gress convenes in December, next it will find that the surplus in the treasury tended. As for the Spanish boats, there above the $100,000,000 gold reserve, will exceed the amount received from the sale of bonds, thus demonstrating that there was no necessity for the government to sell its bonds.

"Our Republican friends cannot exreasonably well informed about the condition of Spain understood that it was impossible for her to continue a long and expensive struggle."

STRONG FORCE TO BE AT MANILA.

Battleships to Soon Start For Honolulu, but Evidently Later to Join Dewey. More Troops Ordered to Manila - Certain Nation Better Keep Hands Off.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The officials at the state and war departments welcomed the notice sent yesterday to the American people through The Associated Press of the falsity of the stories describing the friction between the Filipanos and the American forces in Luzon. While the officials did not care to discuss the matter for publication it was evident the main source of their satisfaction was the internal evidence contained in the document that Aguinaldo had profited by the warnings of the American commanders and had gracefully receded from the arrogant attitude assumed by him just be-fore General Merritt left Manila for

While there is little in the official reports that tends to contradict what the insurgent chief says, still it must be recalled that both General Otis and Admiral Dewey, in cable messages to Washington, have pointed out threatening complications arising from the attitude of the insurgents. The last advices received at the war department from Manila came from General Otis Friday last, and, while the officer referred to the agitation exhibited by the insurgents, he took care to state that he had troops enough in his opinion to meet any emergency.

With this statement from the commanding general on the scene of activity fresh in mind, the war department explanation for the dispatch of fresh reinforcements for the American army at Manila, namely that it is but part of a movement originally planned, appears to warrant a further inquiry. The navy department is rushing preparations for the start of the big battleships Oregon and Iowa to Honolulu. The purpose is to have them start on their long voyage by the end of the present month and according to the department calculations they should arrive at their destination by the end of January. There is little effort now made to conceal the fact that the department will have the snips met at Honorulu by a dispatch boat with orders to turn their prows westward to Manila.

Battleships of this character are not needed to keep the Filipano insurgents in order, and their assembling in Manila in conjunction with the dispatch of heavy reinforcements of troops for the American land forces cannot but be regarded as significant. In well informed circles here it is said that the real purpose of the president in making these preparations is to insure the peace commissioners against any interference in their work of disposing of the future of the Philippine islands according to their best judgment.

A long line of curious incidents to which one of the great European powers has been a party, has beyond question done much to cause a feeling of uneasiness on the part of the administration, as tending to show a purpose to interfere in our free action in the Philippines, and this has been only slightly diminished by apparently frank disclaimers of an ulterior purpose, because the incidents continue quietly and in a manner calculated to avoid attracting attention. Such for instance is the gathering of naval vessels to the south of the Philippine group, the only explanation of which, coming from native sources, it is true, but still bearing marks of genuineness, is a purpose of acquiring either by seizure or by some secret pact with the Spanish government the important island of Pala-

This particular island forms one side of the gateway through which must pass all of the extensive commerce that flows between Australia, Micronesia and Southern China. The passage is narrow, and if the islands of the Philippine group are to be retained, outside of Luzon this island of Palawan must be kept, as forming one side of the gateway. It is gathered that it is the purpose of the president, therefore, to prevent the alienation by Spain of any of the Philippine group, and that these preparations, naval as well as military, are but steps toward the execution of his purpose.

With the addition to his fleet of the two battleships Admiral Dewey will have a force only second to that of Great Britain in eastern waters, while on shore General Otis will have a more numerous army than any European power save Russia.

The advance guard of the naval expedition for Honolulu and probably for Manila started Sunday, when the Abarenda sailed from Fortress Monroe via Brazil. The Abarenda is a collier, one of which are to keep the big battleships Oregon and Iowa supplied with coal on their long voyage around South America. The plan is to have two of the colliers precede the battleships, and two to go along with them.

iris is a distilling ship. Their capacity is enormous.

RUSSIA FRIENDLY.

Cassini Said the Interests of His Country Need Not Conflict With Ours In China.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 20.-A special to The Times from Narragansett Pier, published yesterday, gave an interview with Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, in which he said:

"There has been absolutely no change in Russian sentiment or policy toward the United States, nor does there exist a reason for such a change within my knowledge. Russian policy does not conflict with interests of the United States in any part of the world, no more in China than in England. Russia seeks only peaceful and friendly relations with all other nations."

The correspondent reminded the ampassador that the American people were now asked by English writers to believe that some of the continental powers had sought to arrange for international ntervention on behalf of Spain in this recent war, and that this plan of action nad been defeated by the refusal of Great Britain to be a party to it, or even to consent to see other powers engage in it, thereby placing this country under a new and special obligation to the British people.

"I never heard that there was such a proposition by any of the powers," said Count Cassini, "on the contrary, all the powers carefully maintained their neutrality throughout the war between the United States and Spain."

Upon the subject of the Philippines the ambassador had no opinion to express, his attitude being that merely of an observer of what is happening in that part of the world. The Russian government does not concern itself with those parts of China, or with outlying islands remote from its borders.

GOING TO CUBA.

About 10,000 Men to Be Sent to the Island Likely Within Two Weeks

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 .- It is the present intention of the administration to send to Cuba as a garrison force for the island about 40,000 troops, in addition to the force now in Santiago under command of General Lawton. At least half of them will be volunteers.

Within two weeks orders will be issued for the movement to Cuba of the first 10,000 of the permanent garrison, and it is the expectation now that they will sail from the United States about Oct. 10.

It is not the intention of the administration to await the evacuation of the island by the Spanish forces before sending United States troops to Cuba.

During the late fall and winter months the climate in Cuba is not only enjoyable, but healthful, and with such care as will be taken for the health and comfort of the American forces stationed in Cuba officials of the war department have no fear that serious illness among the men will follow the occupation of the island.

ANARCHY IN CUBA.

A London Times Correspondent So Asserted-Spaniards Said to Be Indifferent.

LONDON, Sept. 20 .- The Times this morning publishes a letter from a Havana correspondent, in which the writer points out that, though as in the mother country, there appears no disposition among the Spaniards in Cuba to attempt a pronounciamento, the soldiers and civilians alike having accepted the disaster and its consequences with a dreary fatalistic calm, the island is fast drifting into a condition of anarchy.

Attempt to Poison Aguinaldo.

MANILA, Sept. 20 .- The Republica Filipina asserts that an attempt was mede to poison Aguinaldo on Friday night. During Saturday evening a special thanksgiving service was held in the church at Malo-

TYPHOID INCREASED.

More Fever Patients Reported at Camp Meade-Several Deaths-Chaplains Doing Effective Work.

CAMP MEADE, MIDDLETOWN, Pa., Sept. 20.-Typhoid fever is on the increase at Camp Meade. There are over 100 fever patients in the division hospitals and Red Cross wards have been increased to double their former size to accommodate this class of patients. The society has 35 trained female nurses on the ground taking care of the most serious cases. Corporal Ira Keck, Company F, Tenth Ohio, died Sunday night of typhoid at the First division hospital. Colonel Kreps received word from Carrier, Jefferson county, yesterday that Private Gilbert C. Freck, Company I, Fifteenth Pennsylvania, had died during Sunday night. Lieutenant H. B. Coxe, quartermaster of the First Pennsylvania regiment, is critically ill at the Harrisburg hospital.

The recent arrivals of new troops in camp from a distance has served to increase the number of fever patients. Two New York regiments from Camp Black have the greatest number of sick. The Red Cross wards have been enlarged to accommodate 50 more typhord patients. Fifteen fever patients were sent to St. Joseph's hospital, Lancaster, yesterday, and today 25 are intended to be taken to Lebanon. The nurses at the Red Cross hospital are constantly engaged caring for fever patients.

Chief Surgeon Girard has given orders that hereafter the religious denomination of all soldiers admitted to hospitals must be ascertained in order to summon a minister of their faith when there is a certainty of death. The chaplains are doing effective work among the sick in the hospitals.

The Second West Virginia is expected today to march to Gettysburg to assist in the unveiling of a monument. Twelfth Pennsylvania regiment left for home yesterday afternoon.

The Twelfth took away 20 sick men, who will be cared for at Sunbury and Williamsport hospitals. There were 19 sick with the Ninth regiment, the most serious case being Dr. Rotherock of Wilkesbarre, son of State Forestry Commissioner Rotherock.

A TIP TO VOLUNTEERS.

Those That Want Discharges Must Apply In Military Way-Some Who Needn't Apply.

Washington, Sept. 20.—The war department yesterday issued a circular calling attention to the fact that some volunteers were imploring congressmen and senators to secure their discharge | New Orleans, to Newman, Ga., on acand these were making requests to the count of the prevalence of yellow fever war department. Attention is called to in the Gulf City. a paragraph in the army regulations which requires that all communications from subordinates to superiors must pass through military channels.

The statement says that applicants should give the reasons for discharge in a letter addressed to the adjutant general of the army, hand it to the captain of his company, who is required to forward it to the colonel of the regiment, and the latter to pass it through brigade, division and corps headquarters with their recommendation. Unless this is done the department will send the paper back to the company commander for his recommendation, and that takes time.

The statement further says in part: "The department has also promulgated another ruling in this connection, which is to the effect that public policy will not permit at this iime the consideration of applications for discharges of men serving in the Philippine islands,

ORDERED TO MANILA.

Troops to Be Sent There-Said to Be Intended For Garrison Duty.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 .- Five regiments now at San Francisco were yesterday ordered to Manila. They were: Fifty-first Iowa, Twentieth Kansas, First Tennessee, First Washington and a detachment of the Second Oregon.

It was stated at the war department that no exigency had arisen which made it necessary to send troops now at San Francisco to Manila, but the order issued yesterday was in accordance with the general plan of the department regarding a garrison for the Philippines.

The war department yesterday afternoon amended the orders relative to the dispatch of reinforcements to the Philippines so as to increase the number by 1,101 privates and 36 officers. These are made up of four companies of the Thirty-third infantry and recruits for the Tenth Pennsylvania, First Nebraska and First Colorado. These troops make up the expedition under General King which recently left San Francisco on the Arizona for the Philippines, but was stopped by the department's orders when two days out and returned to oppression and cruelty of Spain.

PHILIPPINE PROBLEM.

Serious Statement Made by a Leading Singapore Paper.

ITS VIEW OF OUR DUTY IN THE EAST

An Opinion of What Is Likely to Ensue by the Institution of a Joint Spanish-American Commission-Result of the Return of the Philippines to Spain-An American Protectorate Said to Be the Only Solu-

Of the latest war news the item that most closely concerns the far east is the announcement that the future of the Philippines, concerning which the United States government is clearly unable to make up its mind definitely, is to be considered by a joint commission of American and Spanish delegates. That statement, if authentic, as there is every reason to suppose it to be, may well give cause for anxiety to all who are interested in the maintenance of the balance of power in the far east, who desire to see peace prevail and commerce prosper and who are convinced that by retaining a large degree of control over the Philippines the United States would thereby be doing no more than assuming that position as a great power on the Pacific that it is right and necessary for her to acquire.

It may well be asked why, in the announcement of the proposed institution of a Hispano-American joint commission for the determination of the future of the Philippines, there should be apprehended any possibility of peril. Our reply is that the danger is to be found in the presumption, in the fact of the creation of such a commission, that the result to be arrived at must be of the nature of a compromise between the interests of the two parties to the discussion. Compromise, to our thinking and according to our estimate of the situation, would in such a matter be fatal to the cause of lasting peace.

To compare, in passing, the relative positions of the populations of Cuba and of the Philippines under Spanish rule it is true to say that while the easier opportunity for American intervention was apparent in the Cuban case, partly owing to proximity and the resultant commingling of commercial interests, yet the dire necessity for intervention from some humane quarter or other was. far more clamant in the case of the Philippines. It is proper to assume that in both cases, Cuba and the Philippines, the main features of Spanish administration-call it maladministration if you will-were practically identical, and that therefore all the consequent grievances and disabilities that ensued to the disadvantage of the two populations were similar in nature and perhaps in intensity.

Had that been all the mild and tractable Filipino population might never have showed intolerance of Spanish rule in the way in which their brothers in misfortune in Cuba have done. But within the Philippines there has existed for centuries a dominant power that has absolutely overridden the entire civil and military executive and by its influence over these has in effect held in the hollow of its hand the lives and fortunes of each individual Filipino beyond all hope of appeal for protection to the ordinary tribunals of the law. We refer, of course, to the great religious fraternities who sway to their arbitrary will every power of church and state in the Philippines. Their members, in many instances, are grasping, unscrupulous and vicious. It has been related by those who know that the honor of wife or the virtue of daughter of the unlucky Filipino is held at the denouncement of the victim to the civil power as a "Freemason" or a "sympathizer with insurrectos," The civil official knows much better than to question any charge of this kind emanating from such a source, and the unlucky man vanishes, perhaps forever, from his family. What goes on in Philippine prisons without trial in the way of torture, misery, thirst, starvation, mutilation and murder has been of late a common enough theme. These religious orders have, it is well known, been expelled from Spain. They have no existence in Cuba, but the unfortunate Spanish colony of the Philippines has been their happy hunting grounds for many generations.

It is against the intolerable centuries of oppression and extortion at the hands of these religious incorporations and their pliant tools of the civil power that the Filipinos have entered upon their struggle, now at last crowned with success owing to the encouraging influence and aid of Admiral Dewey. By this institution of a joint Spanish-American commission as to the Philippines what is likely to ensue? First of all, it is to be remembered that the American delegates will not be able to forget that Spain has been defeated, her fleets have been wiped out, Cuba removed from her jurisdiction, Porto Rico surrendered, while the United States declines to consent to take over any of the undoubted immense pecuniary indebtedness of either Cuba or Porto Rico. Knowing all that and going into conference with the delegates of the defeated power with the express object of treating with them large.

over what has been apparently deliber ately left as an open question-the destiny of the Philippines—can it humanly be wondered at if the tendency in the mind of the American delegates will be irresistibly toward concession and alleviation of the terms, so as to enable Spain to say that out of the general wreck of her colonial fortunes she had saved some shreds of her ancient dignities and possessions?

But what will all this mean? If it means, in any degree, a survival of Spanish authority; if it means the continged action of the slenderest powers of the obnoxious, cruel and extortionate religious fraternities; if it means that these (as of necessity always) are to retain an arbitrary power of bending the civil, magisterial and judicial officials to their irresponsible will, then indeed will the last state of the people of the Philippines be worse than the first, for the very first impulse of the Spanish power, as much as may be left of it, inspired by the deadliest animosity of the frailes, will be toward the crushing, the extermination, of every man and woman who had dared to strive for equity istice, impartial government, freedom and liberty of thought, speech and action in the Philippines. For America the question is this: "Is America, after rousing hopes, after countenancing the shedding of blood in aspiration to those blessings of liberty and justice which are the root and foundation of national life of the United States, to abandon the simple people of the Philippines to a fate which to comprehend is to shudder at?" Of course America does not know. How can she? But it is right and fair to say, from an absolutely impartial and unbiased point of view-if there be bias at all it is in the direction of a desire to vindicate American honor and reputation for justice-that, whatever the cause of the Cubans be worth, that of the Filipinos, from the poignancy of their sufferings and the hopelessness of their sighs for the barest rights of humanity, deserves an infinitely deeper and more practical sympathy. Their spiritual rulers-we do not refer to the simple village secular priesthood, most of them true Filipinos-have been practically so many Torquemadas to them. Everybody should know and understand what that means. If, then, the joint commission is to imply the smallest reassertion of Spanish authority over the Philippines-and the temptation to accord it is no small one-the American people, or their mandatories, will be responsible for the beginning of an interminable civil war in the Philippines, where now, within the jurisdiction of Aguinaldo and his civil magistrates, all is peace; life and property, even of Spaniards, respected; revenue peacefully collected and applied to public purposes, and all the decencies of good government and justice faithfully and impartially observed. Is that to be undone forever, with all the bitterness of disa pointment and despair such a result will entail? America must answer the question; she alone.

But it is more than civil war that President McKinley will bring in sight if he sanctions so obviously risky a thing as this joint commission, with all its inevitable programme of compromise and concession to Spain, unthinking of all that that may mean to hapless millions who have burned their bridges behind them and gone hand in hand with American soldiers and sailors to the liberation of their country from a rule that has proved itself Chinese in its barbarous indifference to the miseries of the ruled. We cannot believe it. If in America they could realize the facts of the situation in the Philippines! But by the fact of the creation of this commission they too clearly know not what they do. Then, again, is it not easy to see that, once grant Spain the most nominal recovery of her authority over the Philippines, or even a portion of the Philippines, the way to external intrigue on the part of foreign nations, whom it is needless to specify, is thrown thereby wide open. Spain has been beaten in the war. Does America think that Spain will forget this or forgive it? What will be the inevitable weapon of revenge? A foreign combination certainly. And how can that best be promoted? Obviously by the opening up of a way for foreign intervention in the Philippines which will be of such a character as to challenge and to break up any ar rangement that a joint commission may come to which recognizes any concurrent status of Spain and the United States in the Philippines and any of the dependencies thereof. To the thoughtful and impartial opserver there is but one way-only one. The United States must so act as at once to secure the permanent happiness and liberties of the hitherto oppressed Filipino nation and to preserve the islands from becoming the theater of external intrigues, connived at by Spain, which shall have for their object the extinction of the newly exerted and altogether beneficent influence of America in the far east and the disturbance of political power in such a manner as to paralyze the action of the peace loving and commerce promoting nationalities already well established on the shores of the Pacific-Britain, Japan and the United States. The collective interests, political and commercial, of these powers are of an absolutely overwhelming character, and the less the chance of conspiracy to disturb those interests the better for humanity at

Does America deliberately mean to abandon in the far east its present magnificent opportunity of usefulness to civilization? We refuse to believe it. The joint commission idea, even with a Filipino representation thrown in to give genuine evidence and see fair play, is a peril to the interests of the United States and to the general interest of all pacific nations-that, too, even if it were held at Manila, as it would need to be. The only solution is an American protectorate, ostensibly temporary, possibly, over the Philippines, thus at once furnishing a lever for the liberation and elevation of a long oppressed and much enduring people and a security against the intrusion of disturbing influences permanently unfriendly to the United States and to the nations whose sympathies and aspirations in the Pacific ocean are thoroughly consonant with her own.—Singapore Free Press.

INSECT HEAVY DRINKERS.

Butterflies Sit For Hours Sucking More Moisture Than Needed.

By means of a large number of observations Mr. J. W. Tutt is able to confirm what has been stated by other observers that certain butterflies and moths are very much addicted to drink. In a paper published in the "proceedings" of the South London Entomological and Natural History society Mr. Tutt says there can be no doubt that butterflies drink more than is required by their tissues under any possible conditions. He has known Polyommatus damon to sit for more than an hour motionless except for the slight movement of sucking up and discharging the moisture almost continuously.

What this internal bath may really mean cannot be surmised. Another important factor as to this drinking habit is a strange one, the "thirsty souls," as far as his observation goes, being almost entirely males. Possibly if exact observations could be made it might be found that females in small numbers also visit puddles, pools and streams for drinking purposes, but as far as Mr. Tutt has been able to discover it is the males alone who indulge ir these copious libations, while the females are away laying eggs. Moths and butterflies of both sexes visit sugar, overripe fruit and similar dainties, but they do so for food. The males alone seem to be attracted by pure water, and Mr. Tutt suggests that, their extra activity having originally given them greater need in this direction, a habit which was at first a necessity has become so pleasurable that excessive drinking has literally become a vice.

MUSIC FROM HEAVEN.

Charming German Method of Summoning Church Worshipers.

While religious music will doubtless live as long as religion itself there is ney Pills very satisfactory. I had been one branch of it-if music it can be taking medicine for my kidneys right called-which is luckily becoming obsolete. I refer to bells and chimes. I shall never forget the look of distress with which a famous organist once said to me that whenever he heard a set of chimes he wished he could put his ears in his pocket.

In these days of $1 nickel watches bells are no longer needed to inform people when the service begins. They are, moreover, a decided nuisance, and often a dangerous one, for they have killed many invalids whose life depended upon a few hours' sleep, which the bells murdered. In New York bell ringing has been frequently stopped on account of complaints to the board of

If it seems desirable to have a means of summoning worshipers to church, why not adopt the delightful old custom that is still observed in some south German villages and in the city of Stuttgart? There four trombone players ascend a church tower three times a day and play a solemn chorale.

In all my musical experience I have never heard anything more thrilling than those majestic harmonies in the air, which seemed to come straight from heaven. If our churches would adopt this custom and these celestial sounds became associated with religious experiences, they might arouse the dormant devotion of many a one who otherwise would pass the church door by .-

Swenson Obeyed Instructions.

It was in an aristocratic Hyde Park home. The well trained English butler had left, and the newly engaged man, a Swede, was in process of breaking in. Callers came, and he took the cards to his mistress in his ungloved hands. leaving the silver card tray resting quietly in the hall.

"When you bring things in here, Swenson," said she, "use the tray. It is not proper to bring them in your hands."

"Yaas," he replied. Mrs. H. Park had a new toy terrier. The guests wished to see it, and she sent for Swenson to fetch it.

Soon there was a succession of staccato yelps and whines. The door opened, a very red faced Swenson appeared with the silver tray in his left hand and a tiny dog terrier held firmly down on it with the other. - London Globe.

would not dream of such barbarism, but on the contrary, want their tractive just as long as possi-ble. In fact, every woman owes it to herself and society to preserve her beauty, attractiveness niability to the very end. Thousands of women fail of this for one great prevalent reason. While they resort to every device to preserve their beauty of complexion by external applications and possibly take the best care of their general health, they are too frequently utterly neglectful of their health in a special womanly way. No woman can remain beautiful, at tractive or amiable, who suffers from weakness and disease of the delicate and important feminine organism. A woman who suffers in this way will lose her clearness of complexion, her eyes will become dull, worry and pain will mark her face with wrinkles and she will become nervous, sickly, fretful and despondent. There is a sovereign remedy for all troubles of this description. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

"My illness was caused by lack of medical at-tention during childbirth. It lasted for a period "My illness was caused by lack of medical attention during childbirth. It lasted for a period of three years, during which my suffering was almost indescribable," writes Mrs. Edith Petty, of Texanna, Cherokee Nat., Ind. Ter. "Owing to the injuries received—rupture, internal displacement, etc., I became a physical wreck. I was in a constant state of pain and nervous collapse. I became so nervous I feared insanity. My heart was affected and I had spells of palpitation and smothering. Was reduced in strength and could take no solid food. The doctors told me that recovery was impossible without a surgical operation. My monthly periods ceased entirely. My mother bought a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Pavorite Prescription. I took twelve bottles. Thanks to an All-wise Providence and Doctor Pierce's medicines, the symptoms have all disappeared. I can now do a hard day's work, eat anything and everything I wish. I regard my recovery as permanent, for it is nearly two years since I stopped taking Dr. Pierce's medicines."

THE TALK OF THE CITY

It's of Interest to Our Readers Because It Refers to East Liverpool People.

It's astonishing how good news will spread. From every ward and street we hear of our people talking about the workings of the little conqueror. Merit and honorable methods receive their just reward. So many cases are cropping up that it is next to impossible to investigate them all; but we have taken a few in hand and give them publicity for the benefit of our readers. Our representative obtained the following statement of facts in a personal interview. They are true in every particular and no stronger evidence can be obtained than home endorsement.

Mr. R. H. Hawkins, an employe of Sebring's Pottery, who lives at No. 234 Second St., says: "I found Doan's Kidhave had no occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled two years or more with distressing backache across the loins, a steady aching pain with quick twinges now and then when stooping or lifting that felt as if a sharp instrument had pierced my back, while the secretions of the kidneys were highly colored, feverish or slightly scalded. Work seemed to be a drag; I had no energy, and I am more than thankful that I was induced to go to the W. & W. Pharmacy and get Doan's Kidney Pills. After taking them there was no sign of my old complaint. I felt better in every way, could work with a will, and indorse the medicine that brought this change about."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box. Sent y mail on receipt of price. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

Embraced by a Devil Fish.

A diver engaged in Moyne river in Australia had a terrible experience with a sea devil. Having fired off a charge of dynamite and displaced a large quantity of stones he went to the bottom of the river and while engaged in rolling over a large stone he saw something moving about in front of him. This object quickly came in contact with him and coiled about his arm. The diver walked slowly and painfully along with the sea devil's feelers twined about his body and legs. He made tracks for the ladder and gained the boat, a curious looking object indeed, with this huge ugly thing entangled about his body. With the help of the sailors he was in time freed from his submarine companion. The body of the octopus was only about the size of a large soup plate, with eyes like a sheep's, but it possessed nine arms, each four feet in length, at the butt as thick as a man's wrist and tapering off at the end like a penknife. All along the under part of the feelers of this strange sea creature are suckers every quarter of an inch, giving it immense power.

A Flirtation Checked.

One day when Queen Victoria was present in her carriage at a military review the princess royal, then rather a willful girl of 13 or 14, sitting on the front seat, seemed disposed to be rather familiar and coquettish with some young officers of the escort. Her majesty gave several reproving looks without avail. At length, in flirting her handkerchief over the sides of the carriage, the princess dropped it, too evidently not accidentally. Instantly two or three young officers sprang from their saddles to return it, but the voice of the queen staid them.

"Stop, gentlemen, leave it just where it lies," she said. "Now, my daughter, get down from the carriage and pick up your handkerchief." There was no help for it. The royal footman let down the steps for the little lady, who proceeded to lift from the dust the pretty piece of cambric and lace. She-blushed a good deal as she turned her head saucily, but was doubtless angry enough.

AGUINALDO is quiet. Already the fascination of gold collar and whistle have worn away, and he has taken to the woods until he can invent some new amusement.

If the Democrats are going to make what they style "Hannaism" an issue sult. in this campaign, it will be interesting to watch John Sherman in the endeavor to discover who is using him and for what purpose.

Now is the time for the men who last winter so loudly declared they were Republicans to step up and aid in the election of a Republican congressional delegation in Ohio. "Previous engagements" will not be taken as an excuse this year.

It is all right for Major Weybrecht to have congressional aspirations at this time, but no one believes he carried that ambition under his hat when he marched away from Alliance last fall. The political friends he left behind conceived and nourished that little idea.

A FEW newspapers continue to berate the administration for the conduct of the late war, but it is noticed that they are Democratic papers or the worst species of yellow journals that must have something exciting for their readers. Reputable newspapers and people are beginning to understand, and it is probable they will know much more when President McKinley has pushed the probe as far as it will go.

NOT THE TARIFF.

It matters not what Democratic campaign orators may say of free silver, the war with Spain, alleged incompetency in the army or a few old matters they may rake from the dead embers of former political fires, it can be safely said that none will be so bold as to discuss the tariff. That question has gone from them forever. The oratorical slush they gave the people and labeled it argument against protection has been swept away, and with it has gone what ards for a hearing on the 26th. few facts, if there ever were facts, they possessed. The McKinley bill convinced a portion of the people, the Dingley bill has done the rest. There is no longer ground enough for the free trader or low tariff man to stand. Here and there one may nourish his ideas and think the day will come when he can use them, but he never utters those thoughts in the hope of arousing public enthusiasm.

SERVICES HELD TODAY

Over the Remains of Private David B. Carnahan.

The funeral of Private David B. Carnahan, Company K. Eighth Ohio Volunteer infantry, took place this afternoon from the First M. E. church and was very largely attended, many people being present to do honor to the dead

The funeral procession was headed by the drum corps, followed by Company E and the Grand Army. The casket was guarded by the firing squad of the company. After the services at the church the body was sent to Salineville on the afternoon train. It was accompanied by 15 members of Company E, who will act as pallbearers, and by the firing squad.

Their Kismet.

Proverbs, like grammatical rules, are liable to exceptions. For instance, the familiar saying, "Lightning does not strike twice in the same place," had its exception during the bombardment of Widin by the Russian batteries of Kalafat on the opposite shore of the Danube. The incident is described by the plate Hughey Jennings never had Dr. Ryan in his book, "Under the Red Crescent, ' the Turkish equivalent for the Red Cross society.

The shells from the heavy siege guns at Kalafat were dropping incessantly within the fortress. One of them as it exploded tore a great hole in the ground large enough to contain a horse. A Turkish woman, who was cowering with her three children under the shadow of the wall, took refuge in the hole.

According to the law of chances, it was the least likely spot to be again hit by a shell. But scarcely had she crept in and drawn the three children after her when another shell, leaving the cannon's mouth at Kalafat, nearly two miles away, dropped into the same hole and blew mother and children to atoms. To the Turks the grim exception was a vivid illustration of their doctrine of kismet, or fate. The woman's hour bad come; kismet led her into that hole; it was the place assigned for her departure from earth.

Another shell struck the angle of a house, tore down the walls and reduced er half of the room were a Turkish woman and two children. They were not even hurt. Their kismet, according to Turkish ideas, saved them.

Funny Toothache Cures.

Before the days of dentists, and when cople generally believed in the value of charms, there were ever so many mysterious ways of preventing tooth-

One of these was to dress the right side of the body first-right stocking, right shoe, right sleeve, right glove. A favorite plan in Scotland was to draw a tooth, salt it well and burn it in full view on glowing coals. In Cornwall many save their teeth by biting the first young ferns that appear.

The custom of catching a common ground mole, cutting off the paws while the little creature still lives, and wearing them, is traced to Staffordshire, England. Some people who are fond of exercise believe that walking 13 miles -no more, no less-to get a splinter of the toothache tree that grows particularly well in Canada and Virginia will drive away the worst ache and pain that ever tortured a poor tooth.

The belief that toothache is caused by a worm at the roots is prevalent in many parts of the world; hence this cure: Reduce several different kinds of herbs-the greater variety the betterto a powder. Put a glowing cinder into this powder and inhale the incense. Afterward breathe into a cup of water and the worm will be gone forever.

OUR FOREIGN POLICY.

EX-MINISTER DENBY FAVORS HOLD-ING ALL THE PHILIPPINES.

Says We Have a Great Opportunity to Firmly Establish Our Commerce With the East-Predicts Trouble if We Keep Only Luzon.

Mr. Charles Denby, for more than 13 years minister of the United States in China, is perhaps better qualified than any other American to speak intelligently on all questions relating to the orient, and what he has to say therefore on the subject of the Philippines is worthy of special consideration. In a long conversation the other day the retiring minister gave me his views upon the entire situation in the orient, and especially the position which the United States should assume, so as to secure the greatest commercial advantages in those countries which are now opening up to western civilization. So important does he consider this subject of commercial expansion in the orient that he deems the question of the disposition of the Philippines largely subordinate to it and would solve it in the manner best calculated to insure the development of American commerce.

"Heretofore," said Mr. Denby, "the United States has been compelled to stand by in China and witness the strife of the other great commercial nations of the world to obtain advantages that were in many instances opposed to our interests. While Great Britain, France, Germany and Russia bave obtained footholds, naval stations and cessions of ports and territory we have made no efforts in that direction and have not entered a protest against the aggression of other nations.

"Now, the victory of Admiral Dewey in Manila bay and the subsequent taking of Manila have changed all this. We have a naval, military and commercial base in the orient, and it will not be necessary for us to take any position on the mainland. The only question before the American peace commissioners, in my opinion, should be whether the United States should retain the whole of the Philippine group or only the island of Luzon. I cannot conceive that it should be proposed to keep less than the island of Luzon, and my own view is that we should keep the entire group of the Philippines. It may be that from my long term of service in China my views as to the importance of that part of the world may be exaggerated, but now, after long waiting, we are offered an opportunity to take a leading part in the commercial development of the orient, and I, for one, hope that we will take such action as will be of the greatest benefit to the people of the United States.

I asked Mr. Denby what he thought would be the effect of the retention of only the island of Luzon and the return of all the other islands to Spainwhether under such circumstances a larger force of men would be required to preserve order and maintain the position of the United States than would be needed if the entire group should be held. "It is quite possible," said he, "that if we should return all the islands but Luzon to Spain and if Spain should succeed in re-establishing ner authority over them the proximity of that power to us in the neighboring islands would generate friction, which might require us to keep a larger military force there than we otherwise would and might endanger the peace. There would also be danger of a war in which we might possibly be involved if any of the other nations of Europe should undertake to take control of the islands."

I asked Mr. Denby whether he thought it would be necessary for the United States to maintain a large military force permanently in the Philippines, if all the islands should be retained. "There we come to the real point of most of the opposition to taking all of the islands," was the reply. "It is the fear that it would necessitate a large standing army, and there are in the United States a large number of persons who are opposed to a large army. I would not undertake to say how many troops would be required in the Philippines. That is a question for a military expert. I am of the opinion, however, that after the islands had once been pacified a comparatively small force of men would be sufficient. Of course it might require a larger navy."

While appreciating the importance of the trade of the Philippines themselves, especially in hemp, sugar and tobacco, Mr. Denby does not consider that of the first importance in determining whether the islands should be held by the United States. He believes that with the Philippines in our possession and the Hawaiian Islands as a stepping stone in the middle of the Pacific the United States would take a commanding position in the east and would obtain a large share of the commercial benefits of the opening up of China. He believes that if the islands are to be surrendered to Spain or to any other nation the United States has made a great mistake in allowing Admiral Dewey and General Merritt to take possession of the bay and city of Manila.

"If we withdraw now," said he, "we throw away this great opportunity, which has been opened and accepted as the manifest destiny of this nation. We close the door and close it so that it will never open to us again. We shut out the far east from our influence and do it deliberately. We can never reconsider such a step. It would have been far betser for our trade and our influence, commercial and religious, if Admiral Dewey and never gone near the Philippines. We are confronted with this great opportunity at a time when the far east has become recognized as the coming center of the greatest commercial development, and when China is threatened with partition by the European powers."-Cor. The regular meeting of the board of education was called to order at 8:40 o'clock last evening, with Scripture reading and prayer by Mr. Fisher. Those present were Messrs. Vodrey, Norris, Murphy, Fisher, Williams, Peach and Hill. It was the first meeting of the board since August.

Mr. Hill also reported that the dictionary committee found the work in question equal to all it is said to be.

The following bills were read and ordered paid:

The question of allowing children whose parents are residents of shanty boats to attend school, caused some discussion. It was finally decided, however, to allow them to attend the schools when the license is paid.

The note due the First U. P. church for $1,825 for the Sheridan avenue building, was ordered to be carried another year.

The opening of the bids for the sale of bonds was attended to by Mr. Fisher Ind., has heard of Doctor Larkins' wonand Mr. Peach. The bids were as follows: Seasongood & Mayer. Cincinnati, $6,078; Rudolph Kleyboth & Co., Cincinnati, $6,060.75; Dennison & Prior, Cleveland, $6.028.50; W. G. Hoges & Co., Cleveland, $6,003; William G. McCullough, Wellsville, $6,155.40.

The bonds were sold to Mr. McCullough, he being the highest bidder.

Doctor Williams wanted to know if all teachers who were recently elected had obtained certificates, especially in the case of Miss Andrews.

Mr. Peach then stated that the teachers had been elected illegally and made a motion to that effect. The motion was seconded by Doctor Williams.

Mr. Murphy then said:

"Mr. Peach, do you want the schools to stop and have these teachers deprived of their positions all because you was not in the city and out on a pleasure trip?"

"I have nothing to say to that Mr. Murphy. I knew nothing of the meeting, and all I say is that the teachers are holding their positions illegally."

President Vodrey then said that he called up Mr. Peach's residence to advise him of the special meeting, and learned that he was not in the city.

"I refer you to the city solicitor," retorted Mr. Peach, "as to the way the meeting was called."

The motion was put and lost by a vote of 5 to 2.

"I object to the music teacher again," said Mr. Peach, "and still insist that he was not elected legally."

The court has ordered partition of 200 acres in Washington township among the heirs of the late J. H. Hunnison. The order was the result of the case of Henry Fowler against D. McClurg.

The city of East Liverpool has filed another appropriation suit against J. C. Thompson. It was filed by Solicitor McGarry and the land is for sewerage purposes. It will be heard Oct. 17.

J. D. West has appealed to the judgment of probate court in the matter in which the trustees of St. Clair township recently established a road from Calcutta to Fredericktown through his farm. J. T. All work on hand was disposed of this morning, and court adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow, when more liquor cases will be heard.

The Khalifa's Cruelty.

The khalifa's character is a strange mixture of malice and cruelty. He delights to annoy and cause disappointment and is never happier than when he is robbing families wholesale and seizing and executing all persons of influence and authority. It was this Abdullah who gave the order for no quarter at the storming of Khartum, and it was he and not his master, the Mahdi, who authorized the wholesale massacre of men, women and children at the fall of the city. He has caused the deaths of thousands of innocent people, and Slatin Pasha says that when he was in prison the khalifa had the right hand and left foot of a certain general publicly cut off in the market place because he had been unsuccessful in an expedition. But in spite of his tyrannical nature he is said to be devoted to his eldest son, Osman, who is now a young man of 25 years of age.-New York Sun.

A SMALL BOY WAS ARRESTED

For Fighting In Sixth Street-Visitor From Ford City Toyed With the Sprinkler System at, Sebring's-A Woman Will Soon Be Heard.

Mayor Bough gave out some news this morning. Monday is usually a good day for city hall, and yesterday was no exception.

George Kilmer, a small boy living with his parents in Third street, was arrested in Sixth street last night by Officer White. He was charged with assaulting a boy by the name of Berkheim in front of the opera house. He was taken to jail, and today paid $6.60.

Henry Wolf, who was arrested Saturday night on a charge of disorderly conduct, appeared yesterday afternoon and pleaded guilty to the charge. He was fined $7.60 and released.

John Rolley, of Ford City, came to town yesterday and proceeded to load up on bad whisky. He went to the Sebring pottery where he destroyed the glass in the stand pipe of the sprinkler system. The company made information charging him with destruction of property. He was arrested later in the Exchange saloon by Officer White and taken to city hall. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $5.60. He paid.

Mary Blakely, who lives in West End, was arrested Saturday evening by Officer McMillan on complaint of Mrs. Garvey. The woman claims that the defendant assaulted her daughter, Mary, last Thursday night. She appeared yesterday and pleaded not guilty. The hearing has not been set, but will probably be the last of the week.

Mr. Paden, who was fined $9.60 yesterday is still in, caused by non-payment of his fine.

The hearing of Joe Drake, who was arrested several days ago on a charge of disorderly conduct, will be set for the last of the week.

The jail is now occupied by one man.

A very pleasant surprise party was given last evening at the Joseph residence in Sixth street in honor of Mr. Jacob Mielziner, the theological student of Cincinnati, who is at present conducting the services of the newly organized Reformed congregation of this city and Wellsville. The young man yesterday attained his majority, and in honor of that event the party was given.

He was agreeably surprised, but was completely taken back when William Erlanger in a few remarks on behalf of the congregation presented him with a locket set with diamonds. He responded in a neat speech, thanking the congregation for the gift. Refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening was spent in music and dancing.

THE FIRST PHOTOGRAPHS.

Professor Draper's Sister Sat Thirty Minutes For Her Portrait. Elizabeth Flint Wade has an illustrated paper on "Photography-Its Marvels" in St. Nicholas. The author says: The first accounts of this great discovery are very entertaining reading. Professor Morse, the inventor of the telegraph, was in Paris when the news was published, and at once went to see Daguerre's wonderful pictures. In describing them afterward he said that moving objects made no impression on the plate, for a picture taken of a crowded boulevard showed it as if entirely deserted, with the exception of a man having his shoes polished. The man's feet, he said, were well defined, because they were kept stationary, but he was without head or body, for these were in motion.

To America belongs the honor of making the first photographic portrait, the artist being Professor John Draper, a professor and afterward the president of the University of New York. His victim was his sister, Miss Catherine Draper. He powdered her face, that the likeness might be more quickly impressed on the sensitive plate, and for 30 minutes Miss Draper sat-or, at least, tried to sit—as immovable as a

The first class in photography was formed in Boston in the spring of 1840 by Daguerre's agent, Gourad of Paris. The Rev. Edward Everett Hale, then a student in Harvard, became an enthusiastic member of the class. In his diary, under date of April 1, 1840, is this entry: "On my way home I stopped at the shop and got my daguerreotype thermometer. There seems to be a great demand; there were three or four others

THE RICH RUSSIAN.

He Has a Weakness For an Army of Family Servants.

We were a family of 8, occasionally of 10 or 12 says Prince Kropotkin in The Atlantic, but 50 servants at Moscow, and half as many more in the country, were considered not one too many. Four coachmen to attend a dozen horses, three cooks for the masters and two more for the servants, a dozen men to wait upon us at dinner time-one man, plate in hand, standing behind each person seated at the table-and girls innumerable in the maidservants' room, but how could any one do with less than this?

Besides, the ambition of every landed proprietor was that everything required for his household should be made at home by his "own" men.

"How nicely your piano is always tuned. I suppose Herr Schimmel must be your tuner?" one of the visitors would remark.

To be able to answer, "I have my own piano tuner," was in those times the correct thing.

"What beautiful pastry!" the guests would exclaim when a work of art, composed of ices and pastry, appeared toward the end of the dinner. "Confess, prince, that it comes from Tremble" (the fashionable pastry cook).

"It is my own confectioner, a pupil of Tremble, whom I have allowed to show what he can do," was the reply which elicited general admiration.

To have embroideries, harnesses, furniture-in fact everything-made by one's "own" men was the ideal of the rich and respected landed proprietor.

Bismarck as Dr. Jekyll.

No greater contrast could possibly be imagined than that which existed between the Bismarck of private life and the Bismarck of politics. "In the home circle," writes a correspondent who knew him well, "he was perfectly charming, easy going and good natured. He was passionately fond of children, and I have seen him over and over again have a game with the little ones of his gardener, who were very familiar with him and would not hesitate to climb upon his knee.

'Once when his gardener's little girl died the great statesman went to condole with him. He was dreadfully upset and while holding the poor father's hand burst into tears, for he was very fond of the child. He kissed the little corpse and himself placed a bunch of roses in its hand. He was always eager to assist his poorer neighbors and enjoyed chatting with them on all subjects but politics. These he never mentioned. '-London Chronicle.

The Professor's Wisdom.

The stern professor of the feminine preparatory school sat at his desk trying to unravel a knotty problem when a fluffy haired miss of 16 approached.

"Please, sir," she began in a tremulous voice, "will you grant me permission to go out riding with my brother this afternoon?"

Now, the old man had not forgotten the days of his youth, neither was he a fool, and looking over his spectacles he slowly said:

'So you want to go riding with your brother, do you? By the way, is this brother of yours any relation to you?" -Chicago News.

The Oregon Would Do Nicely.

If there's going to be any trouble over getting a yacht to sail for the America's cup against a Britisher, the battleship Oregon might be fitted up with sails to win the trophy. - Detroit Tribune.

THAT RAILROAD CHANGE

Amounts to Something More And this is death Than a Dream.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS CONFIDENT

That Work Will Be Commenced Next spring Building a Line From Kensington, Through Lisbon, to Smith's Ferry. Other Changes.

"Large bodies move slowly, but when the Pennsylvania company decides to make an improvement the work is usually done. They are long headed men, these heads of the great system, and they usually see a good many years in the future. That is why I believe the main line of the Cleveland and Pittsburg will soon pass through Kensington, Lisbon and Smith's Ferry."

The name of the man who gave utterance to the words quoted cannot be given here, but it is enough to say that he is acquainted with the plans of the company and knows as well as any one what will be done. Continuing he said:

"For a number of years the Salineville hill has been a thorn in the side of every man who has had much to do with the operation of the Cleveland and Pittsburg division, and a number of suggestions have been made as to the best means of removing it. Surveys have developed that improvement is next to impossible, and it was determined to move in another direction. That accounts for the published stories that another line was to be built. Several parties have been out, but no survey has been made this year, although an engineer will go over the line soon.

"The road will leave what is now the main line at Kensington, and going down the valley to Lisbon follow the old Beaver canal to Smith's Ferry. There it will fit into the river division and continue to Pittsburg. Passenger trains will of course go over the line, but it will be principally for freight because it will be a splendid line from Cleveland right through to Pittsburg. The road will not cost much to build, and the saving will be great in the years to come. East Liverpool will not suffer by the change, for it will have an excellent passenger service, and all the freight from the river division will of course go that way. If Sunday trains are placed on the line, connection with Smith's Ferry can easily and probably will be made by electric line. At present the Cleveland and Pittsburg handles as single track division of the Pennsylvania system. Trains are long and hauled by the second largest engines owned by the big corporation. I believe only a few engines used in the Alleghenies have greater strength than the new freight engines on this line.

"There might be another reason for this contemplated change in the handling of freight, but I am not going to tell you whether it has really been thought of. You know the Panhandle from Wheeling Junction, opposite Steubenville, is one continuous string of long tunnels, deep cuts and dangerous fills. Hundreds of freight wrecks have occurred there, and the property loss has been enormous. Some day, and it may not be farther away than a year or two, all that freight will leave the Panhandle at Mingo, and go over the river division through Liverpool to the Conway yards. That is why so much money was spent at Rochester, or so I have heard, for every one knows the great yards established there can take care of much more freight than passes over the Fort Wayne."

That was the end of the gentleman's story. He was urged to give some time when these things would come to pass, but he only smiled and said there was no more to say, nor will there be until work on the new line is commenced, and Kensington will throw off its country airs to become an important railroad junction.

THE ENGLISH NOT PROFANE

Little Bad Language In London Outside of Petticoat Lane.

Little rough or rude language is used by the English. They even fight without swearing and get very drunk and noisy without employing strong language. They love to chaff and guy each other, and the crowds and the street people who drive horses and peddle goods and hang about the corners are a great deal wittier than most of us give them credit for being, but they seldom resort to bad language. I never heard much of it until I went to Petticoat lane, and I know a woman who has lived here two years and been constantly about town who tells me that in that time she has only heard one oath from an Englishman's lips. The worst word I heard in Petticoat lane was "bloody." That, however, is the worst word I could have heard—in English opinion it is the foulest word there is. I have only heard one man use it and he did not speak it. He was very angry, and he spelled it.

I am telling you this because I know that at home in America we associate it with the English and put it in Englishmen's mouths in our anecdotes, as if it were a matter of course that it should be used to give a local color to an English story. Americans come here and make use of the word for the comic value that they attach to it, and yet I assure my readers that if they tried to think of any really disgusting term they had ever heard and made use of instead they could not more startle or shock these English ears.

English sailors have brought the word "bloody" to our shores—sailors and prizefighters and stablemen, and only such persons cling to it here. What we consider a very much fouler word has a vastly wider circulation, but is not considered as bad as 'bloody." All this is very strange and requires a native to explain it, especially as "bloody" is merely the contraction of the oath "by our Lady," which was more or less commonly used in the ancient days when this was a Roman Catholic country.

The people who try to swear without ewearing—who in our country say "hully chee" and "by cripes," all use the word "blooming" over here. "I can't very bloomin well make you buy much if not more freight than any this bloomin thing, but I'll 'ave a bloomin try at it," is what I heard a street fakir say to a crowd the other day. There is no harm in that at all, and it is much more typically English than the word "bloody," besides being decent.

It is funny what mistakes nations make about one another. Over here the very smart thing in reporting the speech of us Americans is to make us all and always call ourselves "Amurricans." It may be true of us. This whole nation believes it. But I never heard an American so pronounce the name of our country, and yet I've got a quick linguistic ear, which is a thing the English utterly lack.—Julian Ralph in Providence has been attempted by many, but with indifferent success by the majority, so far as history is concerned. Alike the best known and the most successful authors of this class are Scott, Kingsley and Lytton. In grouping books of this type in an order of merit based on their historical worth, it cannot be denied that "The Last of the Barons" should be awarded the first place, with 'Henry Esmond' and "Hereward the Wake' bracketed as second. Victor Hugo's "L'Historie d'un Crime, " which has been called "the apotheosis of the special correspondent," is a notable example of a contemporary history written under a thin disguise of fiction. #### RELICS OF THE WAR.

GREAT DEMAND FOR THEM FROM ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTRY.

High Prices Obtainable For Arms Captured From the Spaniards-The Mauser Rifles Will Be Stored In the Springfield Armory

The latest invasion of Washington is by the relic hunters. From all quarters of the Union inquiries are pouring in, some of them by word of mouth and some by letter, for particulars as to the disposal of materials of war captured by our army from the Spaniards. Most of the relic hunters are unwilling to trust to the honesty of the regular curio dealers who profess to sell souvenirs of Santiago and the like, but there seems to be a general feeling that if the government would set apart such weapons and accounterments as it may not need for its own use and sell them with a certificate of their authenticity they would command a good market. It has even been estimated that a Spanish rifle which had been used in defending the enemy's works against the assaults To produce a so called historical novel of our troops would bring a good enough price to purchase a new rifle of the best make for some American sol-

In other words, it is believed that the government could take the entire stock of captured arms, obsolete ammunition and equipments and with a little advertising dispose of them for enough to purchase an equivalent stock of new and modern material which could be put to immediate practical use in our own army. There would be a precedent for this in the periodical advertisement and sale by the government of condemned weapons and ammunition. Most of this material is new and has never been brought into use, but has been superseded by some more satisfactory device. In this way it is often possible to pick up an excellent rifle, in as good condition as when it left the factory, for $2 or $3 which it would be impossible to purchase at first hand for less than ten times as much. Cutlasses, sabers, horse pistols, cavalry trappings, and are bought by ready made clothing dealers and other retail merchants, who present them to their customers as souvenirs of or premiums on large purchases. Other lots are bought by collectors who make a specialty of furnishing museums and also by junk and curio dealers, in whose hands they are smeared and battered enough to lend a color of truth to the labels pasted on them, purporting to give a truthful account of the bloody engagements in which they have figured. Another trade which was pretty lively at one time, about the period when more effective projectiles were superseding the old iron balls for cannon and mortars in fortifications, was in such spheres for use on the tops of gateposts. It would have paid the government at one time, looked at merely from the pecuniary point of view, to have gone into the business of buying big mortar balls at wholesale and selling them at retail for the ornamentation of entrances to gentlemen's country seats.

General Flagler, chief of ordnance of the army, has been advised by the ordnance officer at Santiago that our gov ernment will come into possession of about 20,000 small arms of all kinds as a result of the Spanish surrender. Orders were recently issued that these weapons be placed at once on shipboard without the delay of packing them in cases. This was done so that the men who will have to do the work may not be detained needlessly in the fever infected district. The arms will be brought to New York and placed in cars for shipment to the national armory at Springfield, Mass. The ordnance officers will put them on board the cars without packing them in cases, merely taking care that no gun shall interfere with another. The most recent reports from Santiago show that there are but 8,000 Mausers in the stock of rifles surrendered by the Spanish. These will be cleaned at the Springfield armory and stored there, at least such of them as can be fitted for further use. The other guns may be sold, but the war department Our Presses. officers profess to be not particularly anxious to advertise that fact, as they say they have had some unpleasant experiences with relic hunters already, though they do not specify wherein the unpleasantness consisted. The property turned over to the United States at Santiago included, besides the Mausers, almost every other existing type of rifle. The latter the government will in all probability make no effort to use again. The cartridge belts also, which became the property of the United States, will be of little service. They are arranged to carry the cartridges in "clips" of five and are not serviceable with our guns. In the Krag-Jorgensen rifle the cartridges are placed in the gun one by one, and the gun is so designed that it may be used as a single loader, the magazine being detached or "cut off" for that purpose. Our cartridge belts are deemed superior in style, and even in the event of our adopting the Spanish type of belt for uniform purposes there are American designs which in construction surpass it in all the qualities desired in such an accouterment.-New York Post.

In fact, torpedo boats were not used by either combatant pletely vindicated our course in respect except occasionally for dispatch boats, a duty to which other craft might be more advantageously assigned. The Winslow, it is true, was sent into the dition of the treasury proves concluharbor of Cardenas to reconnoiter, but sively that we were right. When conthis was gunboat service and not the gress convenes in December, next it will work for which a torpedo boat is intended. As for the Spanish boats, there was really nothing to fear from them. Sigsbee made quick work of the Terror off San Juan, although the St. Paul, which he commanded, was exactly the kind of a vessel, unarmored and presenting a full side, that torpedoes might could not foresee the early termination be expected to inflict damage on. The of the war, because every man who was Furor and the Pluton were among the very best and most modern of the destroyer class, and yet the Gloucester, which is merely a converted yacht, defeated them both.

"The war has taught us to rely on our great battleships and cruisers with absolute confidence. Hitherto the question has been open to fair discussion in the absence of any practical illustration of their work in actual warfare. But now we know what they can do. The two vessels which, as ships of war, have given the best account of themselves on their merits, without regard to the manner in which they were handled-although that, of course, was above criticism with all our ships-are the Oregon and Brooklyn, and these are the Character of Each Preacher Examtypes of vessels which are likely to come more and more in vogue, not only ports. An invitation was presented in the American navy, but in the navies of foreign powers. Battleships will be built more and more on the Oregon plan, with greater speed, if possible, without change ratio of representation from one interfering with their effectiveness as fighting machines.

"We can speak from actual experience now on a great many questions with regard to which we could only theorize three months ago. We know, for instance, that drydocks are needed large enough to receive our biggest ships and numerous enough to prevent the necessity of their lying long without repair or without having their bottoms cleaned. Our first class fighting ships have been in bad condition almost from the beginning of the war simply because we did not have docks large enough to put them into, and, although our smaller craft have been so nearly exempt from day. injury in actual combat, it has been impossible to repair them speedily because we had not enough docks capable of accommodating even them.

"The war has shown, too, that the bottoms of all our ships should be copper sheathed, so that they can be kept at sea without the necessity of too frequent docking for cleaning. At present not one of our important ships is copper sheathed. The only sheathed vessels in the navy are the six gunboats of the Annapolis and Marietta classes and the at the outbreak of the war. With cop-, per sheathed bottoms our ships would be at a great advantage in long cruises, such as are apt to be frequent now that the war has brought into our possession far distant colonies.

"Perhaps the most important lesson which we have learned is the necessity of making our fighting ships fireproof. At Manila and at Santiago the Spanish ships took fire, and they suffered as much or more from this cause as from the impact of our shells. Now, it is not at all Eckman, deceased. necessary that a shell in striking a ship should set fire to it. It is necessary to have a certain amount of woodwork in every vessel, although so far as is practicable it is dispensed with. There are some things about even a fighting ship for which no satisfactory substitute for wood has ever been found. But it is quite feasible to make such wood as must be used fireproof by a chemical process which has been employed in the woodwork of some of our gunboats. The ry women several years older than wood is mineralized, if you may use themselves, as girls are less experienced that term, by being impregnated with in housework. In the lower and midphosphate of ammonia, and after this dle classes women are always belped question hitherto as to the advisability of treating the wood of our warships in this way, and various objections have been raised to the increase in weight, the damage done to clothes by being inclosed in chests made of wood so treated and so on. But all these objections are trivial when the aim to be secured is borne in mind. The work will cost a little more, to be sure, but the additional cost cannot be considered in relation to the increased safety secured to our ships of war. I expect that in the future there will be no woodwork aboard an American man-of-war which is not absolutely fireproof."

Bailey Said Condition of Treasury Showed Their Position Was Right on on War Revenue Bill.

DANVILLE, Va., Sept. 20.—Congressple for miles around were in the big

"The only important vote which we believed at the time we cast it, could "When the war actually came, we ever become the subject of reasonable war revenue bill; and events have comto that measure. We opposed the passage of that bill because we believed that it authorized an unnecessary sale of interest-bearing bonds; and the confind that the surplus in the treasury, above the $100,000,000 gold reserve, will exceed the amount received from the sale of bonds, thus demonstrating that there was no necessity for the government to sell its bonds.

"Our Republican friends cannot excuse themselves by saying that they reasonably well informed about the condition of Spain understood that it was impossible for her to continue a long and expensive struggle."
